the little problems of farm children.

"The kindnesses and hospitality that go into gracious living are qualities of the heart," Mrs. Wherry pointed out. "But it's the mechanics back of it all that constantly increase our opportunities for gracious living."

The "time makers" that help to make gracious living, she said, are water systems, sewage disposal, electric light and power, easy-to-prepare groceries, linoleum floor coverings, laundry equipment, bathrooms with plenty of hot water, home freezing units, and such little things as waxed paper and stainless steel cooking utensils. "Every one of them can release time for the farm woman to live more graciously," Mrs. Wherry asserted.
