VACATION AUTO TIP

CHECK UP BEFORE YOU START

If you are one of the many who, for the first time in years, are planning vacation motor trips in pre-war cars—take our advice:

Plan your tour for shorter daily runs than you used to take, so that you won't have to drive fast on old tires.

Have your car thoroughly checked over, tuned up and adjusted before you leave. Little faults (such as a slipping fan belt, worn brake shoes and countless others) can readily develop into major difficulties before your vacation trip is ended.
