SELF ® REGULATION

Our Responsibility

The sole aim of the United States Brewers Foundation is that the sale of beer in North Carolina shall conform to the highest plane of social responsibility and law observance.

Toward this end, a definite program of education and self-regulation within the industry, and in full cooperation with law enforcement agencies, has been in operation for more than seven years.

Field men regularly check on the places where beer is sold. Where necessary, the state director warns an operator concerning certain corrections that must be made. In such cases, most retailers respond quickly. As to the few who do not, steps are taken to eliminate them.

All branches of the brewing industry are pledged to the maintenance of wholesome conditions wherever beer is sold.
