MISS PORTER FETED AT BRIDGE PARTY

Mrs. Emory Hunnicutt and Mrs. S. H. Lyle, Jr., entertained with two tables of bridge at the home of the former on Harrison avenue on Wednesday afternoon of the past week as a courtesy to Miss Lane Porter. High score prize was awarded to Mrs. James Porter, of Dayton, Ohio, who was here for the wedding of the honoree, while low score prize was won by Miss Betty Horsley. The honoree

W. C. Barner Dies Suddenly In Portland

Mr. C. T. Blaine received a message from her sister, Mrs. W. C. Barner, of Portland, Ore., stating that her husband, Mr. Barner, had died suddenly on Saturday morning while driving his car in Portland. Mrs. Barner was the former Miss Irene Ashe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. I. T. Ashe, of Harrison Avenue, Franklin.

" . . . just like a letter from home".

P EOPLE who live in Macon County read The Franklin Press and The Highlands Maconian every week, as a matter of course.

But to Macon County folks who are away from home, it's weekly visits are doubly welcome.

" . . . just like a letter from home", they repeatedly write about The Press.

What about that boy of yours in the service? Does he get The Press? Why not subscribe for him?

And that brother or sister or aunt or uncle who lives in Louisiana or Maine or Texas or California? They'd enjoy the home town paper no end.

A subscription to The Press makes an ideal gift, any time, because no other gift brings a message from home 52 times during the year.
