MISS ANNIE FAYE AMMONS WEDS WALTER S. NEEDHAM

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ammons, of Franklin, Route 3, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Miss Annie Faye Ammons, to Walter Smith Needham, of Pilot Mountain, in a ceremony solemnized August 28 at 11 a. m., at the home of the bride's parents.

The Rev. Arvil Swafford, of Franklin, Route 3, was the officiating minister, using the double ring ceremony.

The Ammons home was decorated with mixed fall flowers and the ceremony was performed before the huge fireplace in the livingroom.

For her wedding, the bride chose a suit-dress of powder blue wool jersey, with black accessories. Her corsage was of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Needham is a graduate of the Franklin High school and for the past year has been employed in the office of the P. H. Hanes Knitting company in Winston-Salem.

Mr. Needham is a son of Mrs. Sarah E. Needham and the late Frank Needham, of Pilot Mountain. He attended the schools of Pilot Mountain and is now engaged in agricultural work.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was held, after which the couple left for a trip through Eastern Tennessee.

MRS. CONSTANCE HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. Roy R. Cunningham, Mrs. Winnie Rickman and Mrs. Frank Shields entertained with a miscellaneous shower Wednesday evening of last week at the home of Mrs. Cunningham, at Rogers Hall, honoring Mrs. W. P. Constance, a recent bride, the former Miss Helen Rickman.

The house was beautifully decorated with mixed fall flowers.

The honoree was the recipient of a number of attractive and useful gifts from the large number of friends who called.

The hostesses served delicious refreshments.

WEDS AT HOME—Mrs. Walter Smith Needham, the former Miss Annie Faye Ammons, was married at the home of her parents, Franklin, Route 3, August 28.

C., and of the late George B. Goldsmith, in a ceremony solemnized at the Franklin Methodist church September 10 at 5 p. m.

Miss Porter Becomes Bride Of Mr. Goldsmith

The Rev. Robert L. Jerome, of New Bern, brother-in-law of the bride, assisted by the Rev. W. Jackson Honeycutt, pastor of the church, officiated, using the double ring ceremony.

The church decorations included a screen of evergreens with urns of gladiolus on tall white pedestals, while a pair of seven-branched candelabra stood in front of the organ.

The nuptial music was presided by James Bryson Porter, organist and baritone soloist, brother of the bride, assisted by Mrs. Porter. The program included two vocal solos by Mr. Porter, "When Thou Art Near", "In Thee Is Joy", by Bach; "Triumph Theme from the Fifth Symphony", Tchaikowsky; "I Love Thee", by Grieg; and "Marriage Bells", an organ and piano duet composed by Mrs. Porter. "The Introduction to Act Three", from Wagner's "Lohengrin", preceded the traditional bridal processional. Mendelssohn's "March" was used as the recessional.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, William Goldsmith, of Greenville, brother of the groom, was best man, and Mrs. Robert L. Jerome, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Porter's only attendant.

The ushers were Richard Sloan, of Franklin, Richard Ellis, of Charleston, William Shockley of Greenville, and William Belser, of Sumter, S. C.

The bride wore her mother's wedding gown of white organdy, with yoke of lace and satin ribbon, train, and elbow-length veil of illusion attached to a white coronet headdress. She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, centered with an orchid. Her pearl necklace was the gift of the groom.

Mrs. Jerome, matron of honor, was gowned in pink Nylon taffeta, floor length, and carried a bouquet of pink asters and blue delphinium. The bride's mother wore a gray crepe gown, with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink and blue asters. The groom's mother was dressed in black crepe with beaded yoke of mousseline. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Porter, the bride's parents, held a reception at their home, "Hall of the Pines", immediately after the wedding, with Mrs. Richard Jones, Mrs. Emory Hunnicutt, and the Misses Margaret Bryson, of Tucson, Ariz., cousin of the bride, Dorothy Jones, Dorothy Sloan, and Mildred Roper assisting in receiving Mrs. Jess Conley and Mrs. James Porter presided at the punch bowl.

Mrs. Goldsmith, who for the past year has been field director of Girl Scout work, in Charleston, S. C., is a graduate of the Franklin High school, Peace Junior college, Raleigh, and
