

“... just like a letter from home”.

PEOPLE who live in Macon County read The Franklin Press and The Highlands Maconian every week, as a matter of course.

But to Macon County folks who are away from home, it's weekly visits are doubly welcome.

And that brother or sister or aunt or uncle who lives in Louisiana or Maine or Texas or California. They'd enjoy the home town paper no end.

A subscription to The Press makes an ideal gift, any time, because no other gift brings a message from home 52 times during the year.

Banner Year For Hunters, Report Show

It's a big year for North Carolina hunters. They're out in large numbers, and reports of kills from all sections of the state indicate that they're getting something besides the trip out of excursions into the woods and fields, according to the division of game and inland fisheries.

It's been generally the same story as each season rolled around — more hunters than ever before for squirrel, in September and October, and for deer and bear, in October. Early reports on individual waterfowl and quail kills were on the smaller side, but the aggregate kill of so many hunters is bound to be tremendous, and the coming of colder weather brought better prospects. At any rate, the pressure from hunters is there.

So it looks like a banner year — one which is living up to advance indications and expectations that North Carolina's game would be subjected to record hunting pressure. Pre-season estimates were for an increase of probably one-third in the number of hunters this year, and sales reports from license agents are bearing out these figures.

REASON

“When the paper says the bride is 24 and the groom 60, it isn't necessary to add that he is considered one of the richest men in his neck of the woods.”

3 KINDS OF WOMEN

“There are said to be three kinds of women—the beautiful, the intelligent—and the majority.”

This State Ninth In Job Placement Of Disabled Vets

North Carolina ranked eighth in the nation in placing disabled veterans in gainful employment during the month of October, as a result of the intensive campaign conducted in connection with the “National Employ the Handicapped Week”, October 6-12, it has been announced by Ernest C. McCracken, director of the North Carolina state employment service division of the State Unemployment Compensation commission. In addition, Mr. McCracken said, this state ranked ninth in the placement on jobs of both veteran and non-veteran handicapped workers.
