

DOUBLE-QUICK LUNCH

CLEAN FARMS SELDOM BURN

Agent Urges Clean-up On Farms As Safety, Health Measure

"Give your farm a good spring cleaning!" is the advice of D. R. Perkins, Yadkin county farm agent for the State college extension service, who this week reminded Tar Heel farmers that a clean farm is the safest and most profitable farm.

Recommending several ways in which farmers could participate in a campaign for cleaner, safer, and more attractive farms, Mr. Perkins suggested that attics, basements, barns and other buildings be thoroughly checked for old rags, boxes, paper, and furniture that may present fire hazards.

Chimneys and flues might be inspected, to, he said, for efficient operation next winter. Dead vines, brush, and weeds along fence rows and near farm buildings are also on his list of things to do, now that Spring is here.

Buildings not already protected with fire extinguishers might be supplied with them, he said, pointing out that spring is a good time to check extinguishers that are a part of the farm's fire fighting apparatus.

"Clean farms seldom burn," the agent said. "A clean farm is also generally free from disease, is safer, has a healthier atmosphere, and is a nicer place to live."

Eisenhower To Be Farm Week Speaker

The acceptance of an invitation to speak at Farm and Home Week, to be held on the State college campus August 25-29, has been received from Army Chief of Staff Dwight D. Eisenhower. The announcement of the general's appearance on the program of the annual get-together was made this week in a joint statement from Jacob M. Pickler, convention president, and John W. Goodman, assistant director of the State college extension service and secretary of the event.

The letter of acceptance, addressed to Mr. Pickler, follows: "You are indeed kind to invite me to attend and to speak to the North Carolina Farmers' and Farm Women's convention, to be held in Raleigh, 27-28 August. It is a signal honor to be asked to meet with this representative group of North Carolina citizens and I am delighted to accept your hospitality during the evening meeting of 28 August.

"Thank you for your personal thoughtfulness." Present plans call for the appearance of the distinguished general at an evening session to be held in Riddick stadium.

Last Report On Research Is Off Press

The latest report on progress in the research project of the N. C. Agricultural experiment station is now ready for distribution.

Announcement of the publication of this report comes from the office of Dr. L. D. Bayer, director of the Experiment station and dean of the State college of Agriculture, who points out that issue of this publication, "Research and Farming", are regularly supplied to those farmers whose names are already on the mailing list. Others also may receive the report upon request.

Contained in the latest issue of the report are articles from most of the department of the Experiment station, popularly written and well illustrated, on projects designed to be of interest to the farmers of the state.

Among the articles included in this issue are the following: "What Sweet Potatoes are Bought—And Why," "Recommends Dow 9B for Cotton Seed Treatment," "The Poultry Disease Diagnostic Service at State College," "Stratification Will Increase Stand of Peach Seedlings," "How Experimental Statistics Fits into Agricultural Research," "The Tobacco Research Program Answers a Need of the State," "Planning for Rural Health Centers and Hospitals," and "Use the Freezer Locker to Provide a Year Round Meat Supply."

Free copies of this publication, Dr. Bayer says, may be obtained by writing to the agricultural editor at State college, Raleigh. Requests should be made for "Research and Farming," Vol. V, Progress Report No. 2.

FORD Offers the Lowest Priced Cars In Its Field!

The Ford three-window six-cylinder business coupe is now back in production. The price has been reduced twenty dollars below the price which prevailed last fall when production on this model was temporarily suspended.

This reduction, together with those of January 15 ranging up to fifty dollars, makes the Ford business coupe and the two-door sedan the lowest priced cars in their field.

This is in keeping with Ford's policy of offering the greatest value at the lowest possible cost.
