Here Are Water Safety Suggestions

A life, which could be your own, may be saved if you follow safely precautions when you take a refreshing dip in the creek, river, or lake this summer, declares David S. Weaver, head of the agricultural engineering department at State college.

"Swimming is fine exercise," Mr. Weaver said, "but only for those in physical condition to do it without harm. If you are not feeling well, stay out of the water, especially deep water, and always give yourself a two-hour wait after mealtime before going in swimming," he advised.

Mr. Weaver has the following safety suggestions to make:

Do not expose yourself to the sun for long periods of time early in the season. Be sensible and take it easy with your exposure to the sun in short installments, gradually building up a good tan. Sunburn can be serious and cause much discomfort.

Never dive into strange water. Always know that the depth and bottom are safe.

Thos. Prater, 70, Franklin Negro, Dies Suddenly

Thomas Prater, respected 70-year old Negro, died suddenly at his home on Green street at 6 a. m. last Friday.

Funeral services were held at the home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and burial followed in a cemetery in the Patton Settlement.

Survivors include his widow and one son.

Swim only when you are accompanied by a good swimmer or lifeguard.

Watch for dangerous undertows and big waves in large bodies of water.

Don't swim beyond your strength.

Never rock the boat nor call for help in the water if you don't need it. If you should experience distress in the water, do not struggle frantically; try to swim as low in the water and easily as possible. To make a water rescue, use a boat, pole, rope, or life buoy; make a swimming rescue as a last resort. Learn how to apply artificial respiration; and if possible, take at least a few lessons in life saving.

A Greene county farmer recently raised a litter of nine pigs to eight weeks of age that averaged 49 pounds each.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Where's the Argument?

*You should have heard Ed Carey and Spike Miller debating the merits of Guernseys versus Holsteins. Ed's our freechief, and Spike handles hardware—but to hear them argue you'd have thought that they'd been dairymen for life.

*Finally they put it up to Sam Carter, who breeds dairy cows! Sam hems and haws... and concludes there's a lot to be said for Holsteins, and about as much for Guernseys... take your pick!

*Actually, Ed and Spike were like people arguing about—say, beer versus buttermilk. Folks who've never tasted beer will sometimes get mighty vehement about their choice of beverages. And folks who've never tasted buttermilk will be equally pig-headed.

From where I sit, it's in things we know nothing about that we get bigoted and stubborn. But when it comes to things we know a lot about, we're able to see both sides... be tolerant and reasonable... and above all, understanding.
