FRANKLIN, N. C., THURSDAY, JUNE 19, 1947

$2.00 PER YEAR

MORE THAN 100 CATTLE SOLD AT STOCK AUCTION

Veal Prices Average $22.50, Cows $13.00, Steers $13.50

More than 100 cattle were placed on the auction block before a large group of buyers by the Franklin Live Stock Auction at the firm's first sale held Wednesday at their newly erected stock pens on the Georgia road.

This new firm is under the management of B. V. (Verlon) McCoy and plans to conduct similar sales each Wednesday afternoon.

At this opening sale, bidding was lively, and veal calves and fat cows brought especially good prices.

Top price for veal calves was $24.50 per hundred weight, with the average being $22.50; while fat cows, ready for slaughter, brought a high of $15 and averaged $13 to $14.

Steers topped at $16 and averaged $13.50.

The top price paid for yearlings was $16.50, with the average price being $14. A few milk cows were auctioned at a price ranging from $70 to $80.

Several horses were placed on the block, but trading was slow.

Mr. McCoy has obtained the services of R. A. (Bob) Patton as auctioneer for all sales.

In opening the sale Mr. Patton stressed the fact that these sales will be conducted each week and that every effort will be made to obtain the highest price possible for all live stock brought for sale. The auctioneer also pointed out that it was expected that an even larger number of cattle and other live stock will be available at later sales, as many people now have their stock in pasture and do not wish to bring them off the grass at this time.

Among the chief buyers on hand for the sale were J. R. Franklin and sons, who have recently opened a modern slaughter house in this county, Ralph Bradley, Ralph Penland, L. Simmons, and Gene Baldwin. Mr. Franklin was the largest buyer of the day.

PLAN ALL-DAY MEETING
An all-day service will be held at Sloan's Chapel Sunday, starting at 10:30 a. m., with dinner to be served on the grounds at noon.

SAME TAX RATE NEXT YEAR SEEN

Board of Commissioners To Adopt Budget, Fix Levy July 7

Next year's county-wide tax rate probably will be the same as this year's, Chairman W. E. (Gene) Baldwin, of the board of county commissioners said this week.

The present rate is $1.10 per hundred dollars' valuation.

While there will be slight increases in some items of expense, Mr. Baldwin said the board expects to be able to meet its budget without any increase in the tax rate.

The board, at its regular meeting Monday, July 7, will adopt a budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 and fix a rate.

Fence

Around Athletic Field Is Now Finished

The athletic field at the school here is now fenced, William Waldrop, member of a Rotary club committee on the project, reported at Wednesday night's meeting of the club.

About 400 feet of new fence has been built, at a total cost of approximately $140, and the remainder of the fence has been repaired.

The Rotarians took the initiative in the work. It is understood that sponsors of the various teams in the softball league, which use the field, will share the expense with the club.

He added that he had obtained the services of Dick Mehrof, Tulane university student and veteran of four years' naval service, as life guard.

Mr. Mehrof will also give swimming lessons for beginners, intermediates, and advanced groups. He has served as a swimming instructor in both the navy, and in several boys' camps prior to the war.

WATER SAFETY PROGRAM WILL START JULY 14

Swimming Instructors' Course To Be Given By Red Cross

A swimming instructors' class will be conducted here by the Red Cross July 14-25, with James Davis, special field representative, in charge, it was announced Tuesday night at a meeting of the executive committee of the Macon County Red Cross chapter. The Rev. Charles E. Parker, chapter chairman, also announced the appointment of James Hauser as water safety chairman.

Mr. Davis, who will come here to teach the course, made a record, a few years ago, in competitive swimming. During the war, he served as an officer in the navy.

The class for instructors will be the first phase in a county-wide water safety program planned by the Red Cross. The course will be open, without charge, to any person 18 years of age or older, who can swim. Its purpose is to prepare instructors to teach boys and girls in this county how to swim. Classes for the youngsters are planned later this season. Persons interested in taking the instructors' course are asked to notify Mr. Hauser, Mrs. Mary Jo Sloan, home service secretary, or any member of the executive committee.

The classes will be conducted at Arrowood Glade and Cliffside, the swimming facilities of which have been made available by officials of the Nantahala National forest.

Another feature of the executive committee's meeting was a report by S. C. Russell, of Highlands, on the recent national Red Cross convention in Cleveland, Ohio. Mr. Russell attended the convention as the representative of the Macon County chapter, and gave members of the committee an interesting account of the convention's highlights.

W. D. Dibrell, general field representative for this Red Cross area, with headquarters in Atlanta, attended the committee meeting.

Women May Serve As Jurors At Next Macon Court Term

When Macon Superior court convenes in August, women may be drawn for duty on the grand or petit juries—for the first time in the county's history.

The board of county commissioners this week completed the selection of the jury list from which jurors will be drawn during the next two years, and among the names placed in the box are those of women.

The names came chiefly from the tax books, and it is estimated that about one out of 20 of the little typewritten slips placed in the jury box bears the name of a woman.

The action of the commissioners is in compliance with a state constitutional amendment, providing for women to serve on juries, adopted in last November's general, and with an act of the 1947 general assembly.

Names of some Negroes also were placed in the jury box, as required by a decision of the U. S. supreme court. This, however, was not the first time Negroes were included in a jury list here.

The selection of new names to be placed in this county's jury box, begun by the commissioners at their regular meeting June 2, was completed at a session Monday of this week. As the commissioners approved and read a name, it was typed by Lake V. Shope, secretary to the board, and the typewritten page later was cut into slips, each bearing one name,

These slips then were placed in the box. From this box, jury lists of 55 will be drawn by a child at the direction of the commissioners prior to each court term, and from the lists drawn by the commissioners jurors themselves will be drawn at the opening of court.

The legislative act requiring the drawing of a new jury list provides that "the boards of county commissioners of the several counties shall cause their clerks to lay before them the tax returns for the preceding year . . . and a list of names of persons who do not appear upon the tax lists, who are residents of the county and over 21 years of age, from which list the board of county commissioners . . . shall select the names of such persons . . . who are of good moral character and have sufficient intelligence to serve as members of grand and petit juries".

The act also provides that "in the event a jury is composed of men and women, the court may, in its discretion, appoint" one male and one female officer to have charge of the jury "and permit the members of the jury of opposite sexes to be provided separate rooming accommodations when not actually engaged in deliberations".

The law also provides that a woman drawn for jury duty may be excused in the event she is ill, is needed at home to care for children under 12 years of age, or is needed by a member of her family who is ill.

Mountain

Blossoms, Now At Height, Large And Brilliant

Despite late frosts and a dry spring, the azalea and rhododendron on the surrounding mountainsides are now in full bloom. While there is not the profusion of blossoms sometimes found, the blooms this year are larger in size and more brilliant in color.

Sightseers who traveled to the top of Wayah Bald last week, many of them natives of this section, remarked that they had seldom seen a more brilliant floral display.

Among the many places which will still be at their height, this week-end is the peak of Wayah, far-famed for its beauty, especially at this season of the year.
