Negroes Again Permitted To Enlist In Army

The enlistment of Negroes in the regular army has been reopened with negro applicants being given their choice of enlisting in the army air force, unassigned, or in the regular army, unassigned, according to i-sgt. James R. Dance, non-commissioned officer in charge of the Franklin sub-station.

The reopening of Negro enlistments occurred when the percentage of Negro personnel fell below that authorized.

Sergeant Dance said that negroes will be required to meet the same mental standards as white applicants and that those who meet the requirements can enlist for periods of two, three, four or five years.

Negroes who possess the equivalent of grammar school education and who are interested in enlisting in the regular army should contact an army recruiting sergeant, or apply at the local army recruiting sub-station located at Franklin in the Hearn hotel.
