Coffee Spanish Cream

SOFT and smooth as candle glow, so is the taste of Coffee Spanish Cream. Light and delicate, it is a year-round dessert that can be served as a fitting climax to a respndent meal and exciting enough to glorify any simple one.

Easy on the eye, easy on the palate, this easy-to-make dessert fulfills the dream of every hostess. After a hearty dinner, Coffee Spanish Cream is easy to take. You can vary it by serving with whipped cream or chocolate topping instead of peaches. Accompany it with fragrant cups of well-made coffee, and every face will glow with satisfaction.

Coffee Spanish Cream

2 cups milk	1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup double-strength coffee	3 egg yolks
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) unflavored gelatine	1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup sugar	3 egg whites
	Sliced peaches, canned or quick-frozen

Combine milk and coffee in top of double-boiler; sprinkle gelatine over mixture; cook over hot water, stirring occasionally, until gelatine dissolves. Add sugar and salt. Beat egg yolks; add hot milk and coffee mixture to beaten yolks. Return to double-boiler; cook, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Add vanilla. Chill-until syrupy. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Pour into individual molds which have been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold on serving plates. Surround with sliced peaches. Yield: 8 to 10 individual molds.

Postmistress Never Worries About Republicans, Nor Did They Worry About Her

MERRY HILL.—"I guess those Presidents just didn't pay much attention to the Merry Hill post-office," said Mrs. Sallie H. Adams, retired postmistress, as she sewed diligently on a patchwork quilt and reminisced over her 38 years as an employee of the Post Office department.

Mrs. Adams, who claims to be a "Bertie County Democrat," began her job as postmistress for Merry Hill when she was appointed to the job during the Republican administration of Theodore Roosevelt. The job continued through the terms of eight U. S. presidents, five of whom were Republicans.

She retired on the first day of 1947, having reached the retirement age and having served continuously since May 12, 1908, when she succeeded the late Dr. Burton Hathaway.

During the entire time she served as postmistress, Mrs. Adams did not take a single day's vacation, and at the time of her retirement she was entitled to 217 days' vacation credit and

On the job at the small cross-roads post office nearly all the time, Mrs. Adams said she never missed time from her job on account of illness and even when two of her children were born after she took over the job caring for the mail, "I still did a lot of work they brought over to the house for me to do."

She said she knows of many cases in her community where she has handled the postal business of at least five and sometimes six generations. "In 1908 the Merry Hill post office was a fourth-class office," she said. "But in 1944 the office was made a third-class office. I really can't say that the population has increased around here very much since I took over the post-office, but people just do a lot more reading and letter writing than they used to do."

"When I started out as postmistress there were only two people served by the Merry Hill office who subscribed to a daily paper, W. R. Smith—he's dead now—and Tom Allen Smithwick. They both took the News and Observer. Now there are well over a hundred who get daily papers."

"I have no regrets about my job," Mrs. Adams said, "but I don't think I'd like to start over again—even if the Republicans got in power again and slipped up and appointed a Democrat
