Many Groups Are Meeting At Memorial

With the caretakers, Mr. and Mrs. Van Frazier, installed in the caretaker's house, the Slagle Memorial building is now operating full swing as a community building.

In order to assist organizations in planning meetings and entertainment, Mr. and Mrs. Frazier this week made available a list of regularly scheduled meetings to be held there.

While only three organizations have scheduled regular meetings there, the building is in use nearly every night in the week, they said.

On Wednesday night of each week, the Franklin Rotary club holds its dinner meeting in the main room, and the local Boy Scout troop meets downstairs.

The Lions club holds a dinner meeting the second and fourth Mondays of each month, and the local post of the American Legion meets there the first and third Thursdays.

Any organization desiring to use the building should have a representative contact Mrs. Frazier for available dates, it was explained. If no meal is planned, there is a maintenance charge of five cents per person (minimum $2).

The caretakers are responsible for furnishing fuel and paying for the electricity.

If a meal is planned, arrangements should be made with Mrs. Frazier. The cost is determined by the menu planned. When a meal is served in conjunction with a meeting, there is no

Miss Zenna Pearl Rickman, who is teaching in Eastern North Carolina, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with home folk.

Miss Rebecca Smith, of Cullowhee, spent the week-end with relatives.

The following college students spent the week-end with home folk: Ruth West, from Converse college; Fred West, from the University of North Carolina; and Rogers Rickman, from N. C. State college, Raleigh.

The zone meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service was held at the Methodist church here recently, with the president, Mrs. Fred Slagle, presiding.

maintenance charge.

Mrs. Frazier said a charge of $10 is made for dances lasting up until midnight. If the dance extends beyond 12 o'clock, an additional charge is made.

For further information, members of the board of trustees, of which Harold Enloe is chairman, should be contacted.

The board of trustees is made up of five members: Harold Enloe, chairman, representing the American Legion; John M. Archer, Jr., representing the local Boy Scouts; Erwin Patton, representing the A. B. Slagle family; A. B. Slagle, representing the local Masonic lodge; and G. L. Houk, in his capacity as county superintendent of schools.

Under terms of the memorial trust, members of the board are named for staggered terms. As the term of each expires, the organization or group he represents will name his successor.

MANY ASSIGNMENTS OPEN

A total of 757 assignments in more than 30 different job categories have been thrown open for direct enlistment in the fifth infantry division with duty at Fort Jackson, S. C., in grades ranging from private up to and including staff sergeant, according to Sgt. James R. Dance, of the Franklin sub-station of the army and air force recruiting service.
