$1,784,821 IN BEER TAXES
 for Counties, Cities and Towns

EVERY county in North Carolina, except two, and nearly all of the state's cities and towns have received checks in this first allocation of beer excise taxes to local government units. Yancey and Mitchell counties (blacked out on map) were excluded because the Revenue Act provides for distribution of malt beverage revenues only to "counties and municipalities wherein such beverages may be licensed to be sold..."

THE 1947 General Assembly doubled the taxes on malt beverages and directed that half of the proceeds be distributed to counties, cities and towns where the sale of these malt beverages is permitted.

The new tax, amounting to two and one-half cents on each twelve-ounce bottle, went into effect July 1, and the first distribution of this money to local government units was made in November on the basis of July, August and September collections. Future payments are to be made annually.

This first allocation to local government units amounted to $1,784,821.12.

To the participating communities this first payment was a substantial windfall. This was in addition to state, county and city license taxes paid by dealers.

Here is a new source of revenue for local government units. The money may be used for law-enforcement purposes, debt-reduction, or for any legitimate expenditure, thereby easing the burden of other taxes.

Thus BEER, America's Beverage of Moderation, is helping to meet the costs of local government, at the same time paying millions of dollars into state and federal treasuries.

I'm dreaming of a bright Christmas . . . and here are some of the ideas I've dreamed up to brighten up holiday dishes. Try them on your table . . . and your Christmas dinner will be a compliment-winner!

ARCTIC APPETITE-AROUSER
 Make your relish tray gay by decorating it with a pert penguin made of a hard-boiled egg. For his wings, cut a ripe olive in half lengthwise and, with toothpicks, attach one half to each side of egg. To make his head, center a whole ripe olive on a toothpick; stick one end into top of egg, and on the other end fasten a piece of raw carrot for a beak. After cutting a slice off bottom of egg, perch it on a mound of snowy cottage cheese, and surround with SULTANA OLIVES. They're the kind of relishes everyone relishes! Buy a jar at your A&P!

AS JOLLY AS HOLLY
 Beets are the berries when served on a wreath of spinach and fixed like this: To liquid from a #2 can of A&P's IONA CUT BEETS, add enough water to make 1/2 cup. Combine 1 tsp. cornstarch, 3 tbsps. sugar and 1/4 tsp. salt. Add beet liquid, 1/4 cup vinegar and 4 whole cloves. Boil gently about 1/4 hr. Just before serving, add beets and 2 tbsps. butter. Heat thoroughly. Serves 4.

SANTA CLAUS SALAD
 To turn a canned pear half into a ringer for Santa Claus, tint it with red coloring, and use cloves for eyes, half a maraschino cherry for the nose and a strip of pimiento for the mouth. With a pastry bag and fluted tube, make hair and whiskers of softened cream cheese. Add a jaunty cap of pimiento topped with a ball of cream cheese, and serve with ANN PAGE MAYONNAISE from the A&P.

STAR OF THE SEASON
 You'll take the Yule cake if you top off your Xmas dinner with a JANE PARKER FRUIT CAKE from the A&P. Garnished with green-tinted hard sauce and holly, this rich, luscious cake is a festive favorite that's sure to click with St. Nick and all his helpers.
