

Baby Sitters Set Up Sit-Up Regulations

Baby sitting is no fly-by-night occupation in the suburban community of Leonia, N. J. Here are the rules and regulations as promulgated by the baby sitters themselves. Pay of 30 cents an hour before midnight and a nickle more overtime after that hour; adequate heat, telephone and use of the radio—with discretion, of course — and transportation home. In return, the sitters promise not to entertain boy friends unless with consent of the baby's parents. The sitters are willing to feed, undress and bathe the babies. No dishes will be washed.

Women In Nebraska Required To Give Exact Age To Vote

The truth will out when Nebraska women register to vote. The state attorney general has ruled that it won't be enough to say "legal age." Registering women will have to say exactly

Deadly Mushrooms Are Made Edible By Taking Out Poison

The former I. G. Farben factory at Bitterfield intends to make poisonous mushrooms edible by extracting the poison says the German press. The report adds that the factory expects to be able to de-poison about 600 hundred-weights of mushrooms monthly.

how old they are. The Lancaster county attorney, Frederick Wagener, asked the opinion after some women declined to give their age.
