BEST WINDOW PRIZE AWARDED TO MISS GILDER

Second Place Is Won By Anderson's Variety Store

The prize of two theatre tickets given by Highlands Community Theatre to its next season's productions was awarded to Miss Sara Gilder in the best decorated store window contest sponsored by the theatre in connection with Tuesday night's Christmas festival.

With Anderson's Variety store running a close second, the theatre decided to give a second prize of two tickets to one of its next season's shows.

Mrs. J. M. Valentine, chairman of the judging committee, said the awards were made on three counts, originality, beauty and showiness.

Miss Gilder's window portrays a fireside scene of the early days, with stockings hanging from the mantelpiece over a softly glowing fire, a vase of "lighters", and a table holding an open Bible with "grandfather's specs" marking the Christmas story, presumably laid aside momentarily to greet arriving children and grandchildren.

The Variety Store window, decorated by Miss Ann Anderson, shows the Nativity scene, with the long ago village streets, and a modern village scene with a jolly old Santa Claus.

On the judging committee with Mrs. Valentine were Miss Dorothea Harbison and Alvin Crowe.

Dr Carter To Take Lead In Building Rosman Church

Dr. Thom N. Carter, who recently resigned as pastor of Highlands Baptist church, has been asked to take the lead in building a new Baptist church at Rosman, toward the construction of which $9,000 has already been raised, it has been learned here.

Dr. Carter and his daughter, Miss Anne Carter, are at present residing in an apartment at Ecusta, and while no definite information is available, it is understood that Dr. Carter has been called to the pastorate of the new church when it is completed.

At a recent conference at the Highlands church, it was unanimously voted to send Dr. Carter a letter of appreciation for his work here. The letter, signed "Members of the Highlands Baptist church", read in part:

"We hereby express our deep regret that you felt it necessary to leave the Highlands church and go elsewhere . . . We desire to convey to you our assurance of continued prayers in your behalf, our expression of love for you and your daughter, Anne, and our gratitude and appreciation for the faithful service to our church that you both have rendered. May God's call to you to another field of service be answered with the same zeal that you have shown here and may the Holy Spirit, in even greater power, enable you to win many souls to Christ and His service, and keep you faithful unto the end."
