The text of the committee's proposal follows:

We, the committee appointed by Macon County Post No. 108 of the American Legion, to make recommendations as to a memorial to the veterans who gave their lives in World War II, make the following report:

1. We are of the opinion that a memorial which will enable deserving young men and women of Macon County to procure a higher education will more closely approach perpetuating the lives and spirits of those who gave their lives to their country in World War II, and therefore recommend that this memorial be in the form of a perpetual education fund.

2. We recommend that such fund as may be set up be administered by a Board of Trustees set up along the lines of the trust agreement of the Macon County Memorial Association, which is a memorial educational loan fund in memory of the veterans of the First World War. We further recom-mend that such fund as may is Announced Question Of Franklin School Heating Discussed

A talk by Mrs. Giles W. Cover, of Andrews, and a discussion of the heat situation at the school here marked Monday night's January meeting of Franklin Parent-Teacher association.

The question of heating the school, which provoked considerable comment, was raised just as the meeting was about to be adjourned.

Mrs. Cover, who was intro-duced by Mrs. W. L. Nothstein, took as her topic, "The Home's Responsibility for Citizenship". Mrs. Cover, a former member of the North Carolina general ssembly, declared that citizenship "is almost a sacred right. I had rather have it said of me that 'she is a good citizen' than almost anything else", because it takes so many qualities to be a good citizen.

After citing some examples of good citizenship, and pointing to some of the factors that indicate a lowering of the quality of American citizenship, Mrs. Cover declared that "to have good government, we must have good people, and to have good people, we must have good homes".

The meeting was held at the Agricultural building, and at the close of the program, Mrs. Weimar Jones, the president, asked whether the members wished to hold the next meet-ing there or at the school. Someone suggested that "the Agricultural building is warmer with the heat off than the school auditorium when the furnace is running."

The Rev. D. P. Grant, asking if it were right for the P. T. A. to meet in a warm place when "our children have to sit in a cold school", said several times he had gone to the school to wait for his children and found it very cold. He added that there is about a half-inch space between swinging doors that open into the auditorium from the entrance vestibule.

Mrs. S. H. Lyle, Jr., told the group that Mr. Grant had offered to install a panel to cover this crack, and to weatherstrip the outer doors, if the P. T. A. would pay for it.

It was moved and seconded that the P. T. A pay the bill, but, before the vote was taken, someone wanted to know why the school board shouldn't pay for these repairs.

John M. Archer, Jr., declar-ing that "those cracks in the doors have been there ever quarters, air weather service, since I came to Franklin", com- Washington, D. YEAR'S FOREST SERVICE FUND TOTALS $9,419

$2.00 PER YEAR

County To Receive That Amount In Lieu Of Land Taxes

Macon County will receive $9,419.00 from the receipts of the Nantahala National forest, according to an announcement made this week by E. W. Renshaw, forest supervisor.

He added that he had reseived notice this week that the total sum of $24,331.60 nad been paid to the state treasurer, and that the money would be distributed through the seven counties in which the lands of he Nantahala torest lie. Ma-ion County's share amounted o nearly 40 per cent of the Supervisor Renshaw pointed out that the payments this year closely approach 61/2 cents an acre which he believes compares very favorably with taxes received from comparable mountain land in private ownership. These payments to the counties are in lieu of taxes and are based on 25 per cent of the receipts from National Forest land.

There is, in addition to the 25 per cent payment, 10 per cent of the gross receipts returned to the Nantahala Forest each year to be spent on Forest roads and trails. This year the return for roads and trails will be about $9,733.00. The counties in which National Forests are located consequently receive about 35 per cent of the gross receipts as a direct return in lieu of taxes. There is no expense to the county for tax collection, and no delinquency.

Sale of timber from the Nantahala Forest is by far the largest source of revenue, Mr. Renshaw said. Small amounts are received from resort and other land use permits. Cutting of green timber is based on a long range plan which insures steady, increasing growth with no more being removed than is grown. Salvage of blight killed chestnut is proceeding as rapidly as possible so that all possible revenue may be realized from this source.

Perhaps of even greater importance to the communities on or near the National Forests, it was pointed out, is the amount of steady employment provided by the private firms that cut and process the timber. One of the main objectives of the management of the Nantahala Na-tional forest is to provide a business-like example of perpetual operation and stable communities, Mr. Renshaw said. Timber, water, wildlife and rec-Again Named reation are all developed for the maximum benefit of the people on a long-time basis.
