

Cashier Has Had 17 Years Experience

J. W. Williamson, cashier of Highlands' new branch bank—the Jackson County Bank, of Highlands—has had 17 years' experience in the banking business.

For 10 years he was a clerk in the Asheville branch of the Wachovia Bank and Trust company, and for the past 17 years he has been head teller of the Florida National bank at Lakeland, Fla.

Mr. Williamson is a native of North Carolina, and was reared in neighboring Haywood county. Mrs. Williamson and their two children, Mary, 14, and Jimmy, 12, will join him in Highlands at the end of the school year. They are at present living in Asheville, where the children are in school.

HIGHLANDS HAD BANK 10 YEARS Old Bank Of Highlands Served Community 1923-1933

The opening in Highlands this week of a branch of the Jackson County Bank recalled that the Highlands community had complete banking facilities at an earlier date.

The Bank of Highlands served the section for the decade 1923-1933.

Directors of the institution, which had a capital stock of $15,000, were sworn in May 3, 1923.

The bank was organized with James Sullivan as president, J. Q. Pierson was vice-president, and S. T. Marett was cashier. Other directors were Roy Phillips, A. G. Edwards, T. Peder Anderson, and W. N. Cleaveland.

The Bank of Highlands remained in operation until the bank holiday in 1933. After the bank holiday, it did not reopen.

About a year later, the Jackson County bank opened a teller's window in Highlands, which continued to serve the community until Monday, when it was succeeded by the branch bank, with its greater banking facilities.

Branch Bank Has Many Advantages Over Old Service

A branch bank offers a number of banking services not available at a bank teller's window, which is the service Highlands previously had. Virtually all the facilities of the main office of a bank, in fact, are obtainable at the branch.

A teller's window's chief functions are to accept deposits and cash checks.

A branch bank makes loans; handles its own book-keeping, so that a depositor may obtain information immediately about his account, instead of having to communicate with the bank's main office; and accepts time deposits.

The Jackson County Bank of Highlands has announced that it will pay one per cent on time deposits.
