Where's Your Name?

One hundred and seventy-two years ago, it took courage to sign this paper—this Declaration of Independence.

But the men who signed it had courage. They proved it. For, if their cause failed, they knew what lay ahead. A noose—or perhaps a firing squad.

Deliberately they turned their backs on safety and security for the sake of an idea. They wrote: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are enunalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of

With words like these, they wrote the birth certificate of a new nation-and they signed their names.

Today there's a signature missing at the bottom of that document. Yours.

No, you can't just pick up your pen and write your name. It's not that simple. And it still takes courage.

Courage enough to stand up for freedom in an ever-shrinking world that's far from free. Courage enough to fight prejudice and intolerance and injustice, wherever they exist. Courage enough to help prove that democracy really

You can do it. Only you can do it. You're doing it every time you vote every time you serve on a jury-every time you pay your taxes.

You do it every time you accept your privileges and responsibilities as an American—every time you put your en-dorsement on the principles that paper up there stands for.

How do you endorse those principles? Not with ink, but with action. By doing something about them—by doing the things listed at the right.

That's the best way to put your name
