MISS SPEED HONORED WITH MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Betty Speed, bride-elect of Victory Wood, was honored with a miscellaneous shower and party Wednesday afternoon of last week at the home of Mrs. Charles J. Anderson. Hostesses for the occasion were the Misses Angela Anderson, Anne Anderson, Mildred Crunkleton, Frances Crunkleton and Mary Lou Hedden.

Red and white gladioli decorated the living room and sun room. In the dining room, an oblong bowl of white and pastel colored dahlias centered the lace covered table where punch was served. A program of music was presented by Mrs. Louis Edwards, Mrs. O. F. Sumner and Mrs. K. B. DuPree.

The honor guest has been employed for the past 18 months at the Highlands telephone exchange. Other members of the telephone personnel, who presided at the punch bowl and served refreshments, were Miss Marion Norton, Mrs. Manila Krug and Mrs. Lee Keener.

Approximately 125 persons called during the afternoon, bringing a wide range of useful and beautiful gifts.

ANNUAL FLOWER SHOW WILL BE HELD SATURDAY

Mrs. Valentine Named Classification Chairman

Preparation for the fifth annual Flower Show are well under way, and all indications point to a highly successful event, members of the committee said this week.

Mrs. Green Warren, general chairman, has appointed Mrs. Manson Valentine as chairman of the classification and entries, and Mrs. Valentine asks that entry forms be returned to her instead of to Miss Rebecca Bridgers, as originally announced, and that they be in by today (August 12), so that space may be allotted in advance to suit the demand.

Entries will be accepted from 12 o'clock to 2 o'clock on Saturday, the day of the show, and the committee asks that this deadline not be exceeded. The show will be open from 3 to 9 p. m.

Attention is again called to the exhibit of vegetables in wheelbarrows and to the invitation to the local merchants to arrange 18" x 36" exhibits bearing their name.

Negroes In Highlands Present 'Heaven Bound'

Amid a setting of tall hydrangea sprays, baskets of dahlias, and lighted candles, the Negroes of Highlands, who are here with white families for the summer, put on an excellent performance Sunday night at the Methodist church in "Heaven Bound", a musical play.

Almost two-thirds of the small church was reserved for white persons, and long before the opening hour ever seat and all available standing room was taken, with many late-comers left outside. The invocation was given by the Rev. R. B. Dupree, pastor of Highlands Presbyterian church, and the opening remarks were made by Morton S. Hodgson, who said the play was the result of the colored people's desire to do their bit toward the building of the Highlands Community hospital. To this end, the director of the play asked Mrs. Monroe B. Lanier, Mrs. George W. Woodruff and Mrs. Glenn Ryman to take up a collection, the total amount of which was $228. From this the Negroes will deduct the expenses of their summer church services, and give the balance to the hospital building fund.

Following the opening solo, the white-robed choir marched in with palms waving in time to the music and singing "Palms of Victory". Entering heaven, they were each given a golden crown. In the play, the devil was much in evidence with his temptations to entice the 'Heaven Bound' from the straight and narrow path, some falling by the wayside, and resounding applause from the audience accompanying each victory over the wiles of the devil. "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" was a part of the program, sung as only the Negro knows how to sing it.

The play, with its moral on the side of right, was so well given that a request was immediately made for a repeat performance later in the season.
