Mrs. Clifford Harrison Dies In Fort Worth Tex.

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Clifford N. Harrison at her home in Fort Worth, Texas, November 20. Mrs. Harrison had often visited here with her husband, who is brother of Miss Amy Harrison, of Franklin, and the family at one time spent about a year here, living in the old William McKee home in the Cartooge-chaye community.

For many years she had taught a boys' Sunday scho.1 class, and spent much of her time working with boys.

Survivors, in addition to her husband, include three children and five grandchildren.

What should a man work For?...

Put that question to "Pop" Berryhill, here, and he'll answer about like this:

"Well, you could say a man works for a living, but there's more to it than just that. A man has his self-respect to keep. He wants to work at a job he likes. He wants to do something useful. He wants fair pay and steady hourswith some time to himself and his family. He wants a chance to get ahead and he wants to save some money. And he wants some security in case of accident or sickness. Then, when his working years are done, he wants to know he can retire on an annuity."

Today, in Esso Standard Oil Company, 28,000 men and women have jobs which offer exactly these things. They have such jobs because of a company policy that was set up over 30 years agoand developed side-by-side with our workers ever since. It is a policy based on the belief that the heart of a business is its people-that the best possible jobs attract the best possible

Workers in this company today have everything outlined in the statement above-including vacations with pay, sickness benefits, cash savings in a Thrift Plan, and the opportunity to retire with income for life.

But this policy hasn't grown from "generosity" alone. It's a practical, commonsense business policy, and a good one.

Our 28,000 workers, for instance, have now been with us on the average for almost 14 years-8,400 of them over 20 years.

Right now-with the demand for oil products far higher than ever before, it means a lot-to us and to you-to have a staff of experienced, steady, loyal workers like these pushing our facilities to the limit to get you the oil products you want-good products at fair prices!
