ing the meeting. The preaching will be done by the Rev. R. A. Forrest, president of Toccoa Falls Institute, Toccoa, Ga., and pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Toccoa.

The series of services, it was emphasized, is sponsored by all denominations, and is designed to minister to the people of the entire county.

Dr. Forrest, said to be in great demand as a speaker and preacher, is the founder of the Institute he heads, which trains young men and women for mission work at home and abroad. He is widely known, and has traveled extensively.

Monday night's opening service, set for 8 p. m., will be young people's night. Dr. Forrest will address himself, at that service, especially to the youth of the community, and the Franklin High school girls' chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Clarence Henry, will provide special music.

The business session of the Methodist Youth Fellowship sub-district, set for Monday night, will be held at the tabernacle at 7:30, it was announced. The MYF will dispense with its usual program, attending the service instead.
