Q. Do you recommend using sawdust as a mulch for shrubs?
A. John Harris, the "Tar Heel Gardener," says sawdust makes a very good mulch for newly set, deep-rooted shrubs. Use it one or two inches deep. It not only conserves moisture but will help keep down many grasses and weeds. If mixed with the soil, sawdust will loosen tight soils and thus make them work better, and will help all soils

FACTS ABOUT
BEER

It Happened in '76

● In 1876 Louis Pasteur, one of France's greatest scientists, published his "Studies on Beer," the result of five years' research in English and Continental breweries.
Pasteur's research proved that fermentation is produced only by yeast; that biological changes are due to micro-organisms. For practical brewing he patented a method for controlling fermentation, and brewing advanced from a hit-or-miss practice to an exacting science.
The French scientist's discoveries meant more to mankind than merely standardizing or improving the quality of a favorite beverage. For he wrote in his book, "When we see beer and wine subjected to deep alterations because they have given refuge to micro-organisms invisibly introduced... it is impossible not to pursue the thought that similar facts may, must, take place in animals and in man."
Out of the knowledge he gained from studies in fermentation came pasteurization and new understandings in medicine and surgery which have saved countless lives.
Thus brewing played a significant role in science. Today, in turn, science plays an essential role in brewing.

hold more moisture. Sawdust, or other loose organic matter, when worked deep into the soil, will cause more plants to develop a better and deeper root system than those growing on ordinary soil.
When sawdust is mixed with the soil, it is recommended that extra nitrogen be added to assist in decomposing. Old sawdust is preferable to new because it will decompose more rapidly. As a general guide, use one-fourth pound of nitrate of soda, in addition to the regular fertilizer application, for each bushel of sawdust worked into the soil. This application may have to be repeated for several years until the sawdust is thoroughly rotted.

Q. Have support prices been announced for the 1949 sweet potato crop?
A. Yes. For U. S. No. 1 grade potatoes, washed and packed in new containers, the schedule of support prices is as follows: Puerto Rican and Nancy Hall, $1.50 per bushel from September 1 to November 15, and $2 per bushel after November 15; Golden and Jersey, $1.30 until November 15 and $1.50 after that date; other varieties, $1 until November 15 and $1.50 after that date. These prices, based on 80 per cent of parity, are f. o. b. cars or trucks in carlots or truck loads and are for sweet potatoes packed in standard crates, bushel hampers, and solid or built-up bottom bushel baskets according to type of containers customarily used in each area.

Mrs. Roy Geoghagen won high score prize, Mrs. L. H. Page second high, Mrs. Mac Rae Whitaker low score, and Mrs. John M. Archer, Jr., and Mrs. William V. Swan were awarded bingo prizes.
