SPENDS WEEK-END HERE

Pfc. Bob Myers, of Fort Jackson, S. C., spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Myers. He was accompanied by Cpl. Larry Puca and Pfc. Fred Schoenfelder, both of Staten Island, N. Y.

Field tests in 1950 indicated that the better lines of burley tobacco with resistance to wild-life were comparable to the best standard commercial varieties in yield, quality, and returns per acre.

on a dry lot. Only seven bushels of corn are required for hogs that graze a good Ladino clover pasture.

One acre of good Ladino pasture should produce about 300 pounds of beef when yearling cattle are grazed. One acre will produce about 225 pounds of beef when grazed by a beef cow and her calf, since it is recommended that two acres of improved pasture be used for each brood cow when calves are sold at around 450 pounds in weight.

Q. How many North Carolina dairy farmers are now using artificial breeding?

A. Farmers in 79 of the state's 100 counties are now using artificial breeding. Some 43,500 cows have been bred in the past 12 months. The total number of cows bred since the program was started in 1948 is more than 117,000.

State College Answers Timely Farm Questions

Q. How often should a poultryman collect eggs in cold weather?

A. At least four times a day, say poultry specialists at State college. Since eggs will crack or freeze when the temperature gets as low as 29 degrees Fahrenheit, many eggs may be lost unless frequent collections are made.

Q. Can you give me some figures on the value of pasture for feeding hogs and beef cattle?

A. Livestock specialists at State college estimate that it takes about 11 bushels of corn to produce 100 pounds of pork when corn alone is fed to hogs
