completely replacing the members of the Conservation and Development Board? It may not be, but the people of North Carolina would do well to look and look closely.

I read the other day that feeling that some of our Senators were getting too enthusiastic about the China Blockade situation, President Eisenhower asked General Omar Bradley to paint a more realistic picture for this Senate committee. As one of the Senators said, "We weren't talking Blockade when Bradley finished". I smiled at reading this because I thought how often the old infantryman Bradley has been called on to get the situation back in hand. In North Africa he took over from General Patton after we had suffered defeats at Kasserine Pass and El Guettar and got the situation in hand. He was the guiding hand of the First Army in Europe, and he did a lot to bring order out of chaos with the Veterans administration at the end of World War II. I am mighty glad he is still around to picture with the brush of realism.

I would like to pay a compliment to W. G. Crawford, principal of East Franklin school. I believe that the grounds at East Franklin and Cullasaja schools compare favorably with any in the county. Mr. Crawford was principal at each of these schools when the grass and shrubbery was started.

Personal Mention

Miss Jo Bishop, of Charlotte, spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Newell Pendergrass. She is employed by the Southern Bell Telephone Company and expects to be transferred to Oakland, Calif., in the Spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover P. Sykes, of Rome, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Stevens, of Canton, and Miss Jo Conley, of Atlanta, Ga., attended the funeral here Friday of Marshall Officer and stayed for the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. George J. Conley.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Tessreau are spending several days in Atlanta, Ga.

Mrs. J. C. Turner, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting her father, Grover Jamison, Sr.
