MIAMI—FRANKLIN

Miami is bursting with business, growing—growing, and pulling for more people and business.

Six weeks in South Florida, I made many good contacts with people that want to hear about Franklin area. Well I spread the word advertising Western N. C., and from all reports we will have larger tourist business this Summer than last. This is mentioned in the papers.

Because of the fact that I have moved my office to Furlow Springs, do not let anyone tell you that I have gone out of business. I have not been out of Real Estate since 1922, and when I do, that's my pleasure, rather than otherwise.

I like my setup much better now; have more time to mill around and help you, write my letters at night to my wide contact in all parts of the Country.

So, boys, if you want to sell a chunk of Real Estate, I may have just the buyer that is depending upon my guidance into this New Country. Write, drop up to see me at Furlow Springs (old Baird Cove) just West of town. Sellers or buyers, it's my long time business, with pride and all sincerity to help you with my valued experience.
