MISS MASON MARRIES DOWNS ON SATURDAY

Miss Freda Mae Mason, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mason, of Franklin, became the bride of Jack Downs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Downs, of Franklin, Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kinsland in East Franklin.

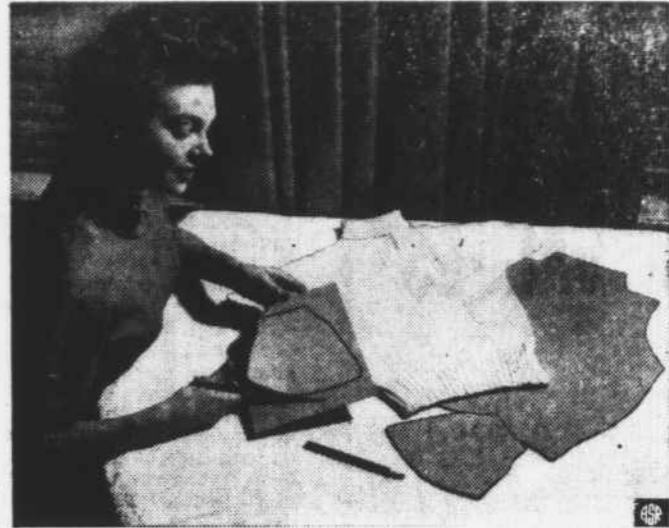

The Rev. William Shields, pastor of Ridgcrest Baptist Church, performed the ceremony. The house was decorated with sunburst arrangements of white dahlias and chrysanthemums against a background of jewel foliage and candelabra holding lighted tapers.

The bridal party descended the stairs to the strains of traditional wedding music, played by Mrs. Roy Rickman.

The bride wore a gown of candlelight satin, fashioned on princess lines, with fitted bodice, trimmed in lace. Her only ornament was a jeweled necklace. She carried a white Bible, topped with an orchid.

Misses Patsy Cantrell and Virginia Ray served as bridesmaids. They wore taffeta and lace gowns of green and white. Miss Dwain Downs, cousin of the groom, served as flower

Suds Preserve Sweater Beauty

The beauty of the classic sweater lies in its smooth fit and its appealing color—or its snowy whiteness. And the best way to preserve that beauty is by sudsing it often.

For wool, it's lukewarm soapsuds—two washings—and lukewarm rinsing. Cup the sweater in the hands and squeeze the suds through; never twist or wring it. Rub extra suds into soiled spots, using a soapy soft brush or well-lathered fingers on bindings and ribbed areas. Blot out excess moisture by rolling in a towel. To hasten drying, you may first spread the sweater between two towels and roll it with a rolling pin—or wrap it in a towel and put it loosely through the washing machine wringer.

An easy blocking method is to use a homemade cardboard drying frame—tracing the sweater outline on the cardboard while the sweater is dry. Then cut the cardboard frame into three pieces—two sleeves and the body—and slide them in. Lay the sweater flat to dry, away from direct heat.

Nylon, Orlon, Dacron, and cotton sweaters can take hotter suds, need no drying frames. Just shape them gently with the hands while they're damp. They'll spring right back to their original shape and fit.

girl. She wore a blue gown, fashioned with bouffant skirt.

The mother of the bride was attired in an aqua suit. Her corsage was red carnations.

The mother of the groom wore a grey suit. Her flowers were white carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the dining room. The table was centered with a wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and groom.

The couple left for a short wedding trip. For traveling, the bride chose a light brown suit, and wore an orchid corsage.

students were there—it looked like a thousand! I felt a sensation like butterflies darting about in my stomach. Waiting for the bell to announce the start of classes, I sat down to chat with the students for a moment.

Alas! that, too, was a mistake. Because hardly had I given them an opening before one pert young miss asked, pointing blankly:

"You never taught before, did you, Mr. Jones?"

At that the butterflies swarmed!

What should I do? I gulped about three times, grinned a little sickly, and then made a clean breast.

Trying to make a joke of it, I told 'em this was my very first class, in a long life. I told 'em I'd thought of making the confession freely, but had decided against it as poor psychology. I was about to go on with some other inane remark when, thank goodness, the bell rang!

Well, sir, do you know what those young people did? They pitched right in to make me feel at home, to help me!

Are we friends, those students, and I? Well, I can answer both of the question; I'm theirs, for life.

FORD brings you Power Steering PLUS...

Ford Master-Guide—the last word in power steering—reduces parking and turning effort up to 75%. It's just one more of the fine-car features that make Ford the one fine car in the low-price field.

Parking's a cinch (you don't need muscle) with Ford Master-Guide because power does the work for you. There's no need to change driving habits; steering ratio is the same. Master-Guide makes all driving safer. Master-Guide is the lowest-priced power steering in Ford's field.

Your choice of both V-8 and Six—Ford is the only car in the low-price field to offer you two high-compression engines. Both the V-8 (America's lowest-priced V-8) and the Mileage Maker Six (America's most modern Six) have the Automatic Power Pilot which squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas!

Shift to Fordomatic and you'll never shift again. Fordomatic is the automatic transmission in the low-price field with an automatic intermediate gear to give you fast "up-and-away" starts plus the liquid smoothness of a fluid torque converter. And with Fordomatic Drive, rocking out of snow and mud is easy as pie!

Up to 80% less road shock—Ford's front springs are specially tailored to the weight of each model. With Ford's new ride, front end road shock (the kind you feel most) is actually reduced up to 80%. And you ride on sofa-soft, foam-rubber cushions in Ford—the only car in its field with foam-rubber cushions throughout on all models!

Worth More when you buy it... Worth More when you sell it! Ford also offers you Full-Circle Visibility... suspended pedals... the largest trunk in its field.
