ed to keep their displays lit nightly until 10 o'clock. Communities entered include Oak Grove, Carson, Cartoogechaye, Otto, Mulberry, Iotia, Clark's Chapel, Cullasaja, Cowee, Holly Springs, Hickory Knoll, Prentiss, Bethel, Higdonville, Longview, and Patton.

Judges will pick the winners of the annual Franklin Garden Club's lighting contest the night of December 23. This contest features three divisions; home decorations, commercial displays, and public buildings. Decorations may be outside, window or doorway, and figures, religious or otherwise. Flower containers — now on display at The Fashion Shop — are being offered this year as prizes.

The Highlands Garden Club's contest was judged last (Wednesday) night. The club is awarding a prize for the best decorations visible from the outside and the chamber of commerce also is giving a prize to the best business display. Mrs. C. E. Mitchell is in charge of the club contest.
