Macon Man Fined For Making False Unemployment Claim

Dan H. Brabson, of Otto, was fined $25 and costs by Justice of the Peace Sam J. Murray on Tuesday for making a false statement to obtain unemployment compensation for veterans, according to an announcement by William Heyward, claims deputy for the Employment Security Commission of this district.

Mr. Brabson entered a plea of guilty to the charge and was released after paying the fine and costs. Mr. Heyward said the charge grew out of a section of the General Statutes stating that a person will not be eligible to draw any further benefits for one year from the date he filed his first claim for benefits.

Mr. Heyward, who has charge of all prosecutions for violations of the criminal section of the law in this district, said the commission is making a "vigorous effort to prevent payment of fraudulent claims." He pointed out that a special unit, known as the Fraud Prevention and Detection Unit, has been set up in the Raleigh office for that purpose. All cases of fraud are prosecuted, he said.

Korean Veterans Should Sign Up For Program Now

Since April 1 is the deadline for veterans of the Korean War to sign up for the farm training program, all planning to apply are urged to do so at once.

Veterans may enter training March 1 or April 1, according to Wayne Proffitt, vocational agricultural teacher in charge. However, veterans planning to enter April 1 should apply by March 20.

Men not meeting the April 1 deadline must wait until October 1 to sign up for the program, he said.
