GERMANY BOUND — Mrs. John E. McClure, of Franklin, Route 1, and her two young boys, Mike, 17 months (in lap), and Jackie, 3, left here Monday for New York, the first leg of a trip to join Sgt. McClure in Heilbronn, Germany. Mrs. McClure, the former Miss Marvylene Birchfield, said they hope to board a plane for Germany the latter part of the week. Sgt. McClure, a dog trainer with the 34th Infantry Scout Dog Platoon, has signed for a 39-month tour of duty.

Here's Way To Check Yourself On Disciplining Children

How much freedom can parents allow their children? Where do they draw the line?

According to Mrs. Corinne Grimsley, State College extension specialist in family life, "discipline" means to learn. The purpose of wise discipline is to help people grow into self-discipline, self-control, self-respect, self-confidence. She adds that many parents are uncertain about how and when and how much to control their children. Sometimes it is this very uncertainty which causes children to be disobedient.

Here is a discipline check sheet she suggests. Answer the questions yes or no to see if your disciplining is wise—or otherwise.

1. I am consistent—I don't punish today and laugh at the same mistakes tomorrow.
2. I follow through on what I have promised or threatened.
3. I get mad and punish to relieve my own tensions.
4. I discuss my child's shortcomings in his presence.
5. My wife/husband and I agree on methods of discipline.
6. I realize there could be a physical cause that makes my child disobedient.

7. I bribe my child to be good.

8. I apologize to my child when I am wrong.

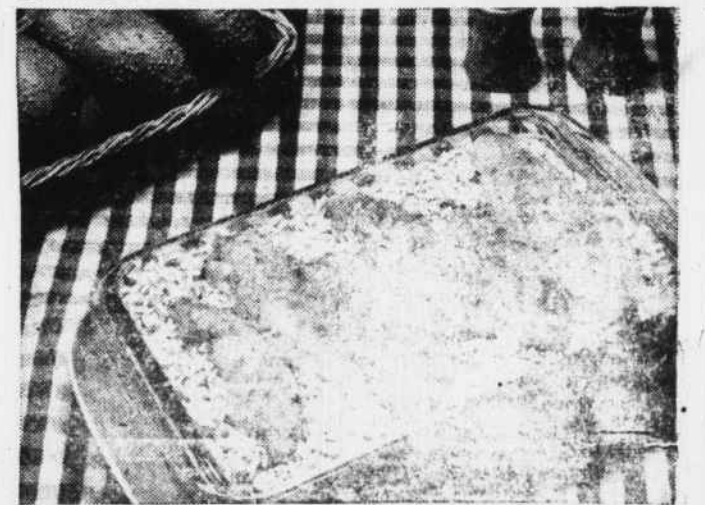

9. I try to set a good example for my children.

10. I am sure my child knows I love him and want him.

Mrs. Grimsley says that being a parent is thrilling and gratifying if you try to be the same each day, set the right example instead of telling your children what to do, enjoy your children, and don't worry too much about your children or about your own mistakes.

SAVORY FISH AND RICE CASSEROLE

1 1/2 pounds frozen fish fillets
1/2 cup minced onions
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/2 cup uncooked rice
1 1/2 cups water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon marjoram
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 1/2 cups milk
salt and pepper

water, salt, pepper, marjoram, and parsley. Bring to a rapid boil. Lower heat to simmer; cover. Cook about 14 minutes, without removing lid, until rice is tender. Spread in buttered 10 x 6 x 2-inch baking pan. Arrange fish fillets over rice.

Scald milk in the same pan in which rice was cooked. Pour over fish and rice. Dot with remaining butter and sprinkle lightly with salt and pepper. Bake in slow oven (325°) until milk is almost all absorbed and fish flakes easily. Yield: 6 servings.
