New 4-H Club For Patton Is Discussed

Organization of a 4-H club in the upper end of the Patton community marked a meeting of the Patton 4-H Club Monday night, according to Doyle Clark, club reporter. Friday night was set as the date for the organizational meeting. Plans also were made to work on the acre of land donated to the community by Richard Bingham. The meeting was held at the Patton Methodist Church with two leaders and eight members present. Birdie Lee Bingham, president, presided.

Forty-three fire guard stations are maintained to protect the North Carolina National Forests.

Cullasaja 4-H Club Slates Rummage Sale Saturday In Franklin

Ruth McCall and Marion Bryson, club reporters, have announced that the girls of the Cullasaja 4-H Club will hold a rummage sale Saturday in downtown Franklin.

This Decision, and one by the boys to plant shrubs around the community signs, featured a club meeting Saturday at the home of Mrs. Marion Bryson. Twenty-one members were present.

WORKMAN HERE

Victor Workman, Western district area supervisor for the Veterans Education and Training Program, was here Tuesday to check on the progress of veterans in training.

A Chinese writer who died almost 2100 years ago left the first known written record of coal.

Burley Men To Discuss Marketing

A meeting of Macon County tobacco growers has been called for Tuesday night to hear an explanation of this year's allotment program and marketing quotas, and to discuss the approaching referendum on April 28 on whether they favor decreased allotments. The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock at the Agricultural Building.

J. H. Enloe, Jr., field man for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation, will preside.

Soap Carving Exhibit Shown

Soap carvings entered in a nationwide contest sponsored by Scholastic Magazine are on display in the lobby at Franklin High School.

The exhibit, which includes some of the winning entries and unusual carvings, is to be sent on to another school Friday, according to Mrs. S. F. Beck, art teacher, who arranged to have it sent here.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Beck's students are now busy soap carving and will open an exhibit of their own to the public soon.

Weatherwise, it was clear when 708 fatal auto crashes occurred in the state last year.

Summer Heads Cancer Drive In Highlands

O. F. Summer has been named to direct the 1955 Highlands fund drive of the American Cancer Society. It is hoped that as much can be raised this year as was donated in the 1954 drive, when approximately $75 was received, Mr. Summer said.

CLARIFIES STATEMENT

In last week's Page 1 story on the drowning of an elderly couple near Highlands, it was reported a collection was taken at the Highlands Baptist Church to help pay the hospital bill of a survivor of the tragedy. The $35.55 raised was donated at a pre-Easter interdenominational service held at that church.
