

Episcopal Women Here For Meeting

Episcopal women of District 1, Diocese of Western North Carolina, were guests of the Franklin church auxiliary last Thursday.

Short talks were made by Bishop M. George Henry, of Asheville, and the Rev. A. Rufus Morgan, rector.

Thirty-six women, representing churches in Brevard, Canton, Waynesville, Andrews, Murphy, Highlands, and Franklin attended.

Lunch was served in the parish house by the St. Agnes Auxiliary.

GIRL SCOUTS HOLD CRAFT DAY EVENT

Pottery Making Taught; Flower Hike Is Held

The senior Girl Scout troop sponsored a craft day at Franklin High School cafeteria Saturday from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m.

Miss Mary Ulmer, teacher at Cherokee, and four Indian school girls, taught pottery making. Four pottery figures were selected to be taken to Cherokee to be glazed. They were made by Miss Clementine Winger, senior troop leader, Pat Gaines, Linda Morrow, and Martha Angel.

After pottery making, the group went on a wild flower hike and identified 14 flowers and one plant.

Members from the other five Macon County Girl Scout troops participated. Fifty girls were present and eight adults.

BETHEL GROUP HAS MEETING

Makes Plans For Summer Workshop; Supports X-Ray

By HAZEL M. ARNOLD
(Community Reporter)

At a meeting last Thursday night, the Bethel Rural Community Development Organization:

Made plans for a work shop in photography and crafts in the summer and a hobby show in the near future.

Sent a gift to Graham Grindstaff, who is ill.

Named several possible couples for the Franklin Centennial king and queen contest, but made no definite selection.

Pledged its support of the coming mass X-ray service.

Heard Wiley Clark, chairman of home improvements, tell about public health laws governing cess pools and offer his help to interested parties.

And, saw a movie on the Gallatin Children's Home in Corbin, Ky., shown by the Rev. R. D. Burnette.

The devotional, "The Christian Home", was given by Doyle Clark, Mavis McCall, Jessie McConnell, Cleo McDonald, and Hazel Arnold.

The next meeting will be an old fashioned party with all dressed in old timey clothes. Mrs. Gladys Burnette will be in charge.
