County Fair Explained At Hickory Knoll

Plans for the county fair in August were outlined by extension agents James G. Flanagan and Robert McNeil at a meeting Friday night of the Hickory Knoll Rural Community Development Organization.

Progress on the new church building was reported by the president, Vernon Cunningham. At the meeting, $165 was raised for buying flooring at the church. When the flooring is finished, the auditorium may be used. This should be in about three or four weeks.

A singing followed the meeting. Cecil Alexander and P. Cunningham gave the devotional.

NEIGHBORLY DIG

A woman who had recently taken up piano lessons had her practicing interrupted by a pounding at the door. Her eyes gave a start when she opened the door and found a policeman standing at the threshold.

"What's the matter?" she asked breathlessly.

"We just got a phone call" said the officer, "that a fellow named Chopin was being murdered in this house."
