WINTER IS SURE TO COME. It always has.

Do you have your back log ready? You are sure to need it.

By this we mean that there comes to each of us a time when we will need just that kind of financial back log that can be built up by following the plan of consistent savings which the Building and Loan Association offers.

You may need money for:

A down payment on a home.

An emergency hospital bill.

Junior has just arrived and you are already thinking about a higher education for him when he finishes high school.

Or any number of other things.

Let's see just what $1.00 per week invested in a Building and Loan Savings account will do at the present earning rate.

Class A Installment Stock, now maturing in 3½ years:

Invest $1.00 per week for 182 weeks, at which time you will have paid in $182.00. You will receive $200.00. Your earnings, $18.00.

Class B Installment Stock, now maturing in 6½ years:

You will have paid in $338.00, which will have earned $62.00. Total $400.00.

Class C Installment Stock, now maturing in 603 weeks (11 years and 31 weeks):

You will have paid in $603.00, which will have earned $197.00. Total $800.00.

Compare these figures with any other form of savings.

If necessary, the amount paid in may be withdrawn at any time before the shares mature, but, of course, at a lesser earning rate.

Or if you need some money temporarily, you may borrow against your savings.

If you wish, you may insure against death or disability at a small premium, that is, we will arrange for an insurance company to finish paying for your shares in case you die or become disabled.

Think it over. Then come to see us.

With the coming of each October, 4-H club members begin summing up the year's accomplishments. It is always an inspiration to each member, and especially to adult leaders, to be able to review good results. The girls and boys who have gone the full mile by keeping a project record book are to be highly praised. Whether this project selected was farm and home electric, clothing, dairy calf, or food conservation, the club member adds interest and zest by including a story in the completed record. This is proven by Miss Vicky Ray, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ray, of Oak Dale. In completing one of the best food conservation records of the year, Vicky relates the following interesting story of her project:

"When I decided to take food conservation as my 4-H project, I didn't know what a job it was going to be! Mother was glad to help me. The first thing I canned this year was garden peas. We didn't have a pressure canner so I had to use the hot water bath. I didn't know I was supposed to have the water two inches over the tops of the cans. That was the first thing I learned about canning the hot water bath way. Some of the cans of peas are cloudy, but most of them are pretty. I lost two cans out of 25. The next thing I canned was green beans. I had no trouble with them and none spoiled. Last summer we didn't raise any tomatoes. We tried but our crop was a failure. I figured we bought over six dollars worth of canned tomatoes last winter. This year we have had plenty of fresh tomatoes and I have canned enough so we won't have to buy tomatoes this winter. We have 18 hives of bees. I helped can 75 quarts of honey. I have one hive of bees of my own. This year I sold about ten dollars worth of honey from my own bees. Some of this money was used to pay for materials used in refinishing an old dresser in my room improvement project. I tried to follow a plan that I made for our family of five. This food I have conserved and helped conserve will help us to have a better balanced diet this winter, when fresh vegetables and fruits are not available. I have enjoyed my project very much and I am proud to say I learned more about canning, pickling, making jam and jelly, and how to make kraut. I can appreciate our meals more now for I know it takes lots of hard work and planning to have well balanced meals."

Other 4-H girls who are to be commended for the completion of project records are as follows: Better grooming project, Carol Sue Welch, Carmen Robinson, Brenda Cunningham and Karen Ray; food conservation, Wanda Houston and Ann Pennington, seniors, Vicky Ray, junior; home improvement, Sharon Swanson, Carol Sue Welch, Bobbaline Jenkins, Claudetta McCoy, Brenda Cunningham, Claudetta Leather-
