

County Negroes Organize For Rural Development

The Negroes of the county have organized for community development. Meeting last Thursday night, the group elected Bill Lenoir as president; Jeter Love, vice-president; and Margie Thomas, secretary-treasurer.

Committee appointments have been made by the president and the new organization probably will undertake beautification of churches and grounds as its first project.

Mr. Lenoir said it is hoped all Negroes will join in the development work.

The organization plans to meet the first Thursday in each month.

UNION P. T. A. MEETING

The Union P. T. A. will meet tonight (Thursday) at 7:30 at the school. Mrs. Mae Shope, county health nurse, will be on the program, presenting the pre-school clinic.

Zones For Franklin's Development Program Set

STREETS DIVIDING ZONES for Franklin's development program are shown above. As indicated, Zone 1 is all of East Franklin; Zone 2, the area embraced within Main Street and Iotla to the Little Tennessee River; Zone 3, West Main and Iotla, west to the Carson community; Zone 4, West Main south from Phillips Street to Wayah, Ulco, and Forrest Avenue; and Zone 5, the area within Main, Phillips, Wayah, Ulco, and Forrest running east to the river. All business establishments and residences are included in the zoning. The outer limits of each zone are set up to go outside the city limits and join the boundaries of organized communities.

Mrs. Long Again Heads Club Here

All officers of the Franklin Garden Club have been reelected for another year.

They are Mrs. J. Ward Long, president; Mrs. John M. Archer, Jr., vice-president; Mrs. Gilmer A. Jones, secretary; Miss Rose King, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Holland McSwain, treasurer.

The election featured the club's regular meeting Monday afternoon at the Methodist church.

Mrs. Allan Brooks was given charge of the annual "Litter-bug" project. This clean-up campaign is set for the last of this month and will be staged in cooperation with the community drive.

The horticultural chairman, Mrs. E. S. Purdom, reported that the crocus bulbs planted by the club last fall on the town hall grounds are now blooming and that shrubs have been planted. Grass is being planted this week.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. J. E. Perry, Jr., Mrs. Harve Bryant, and Mrs. William Dinnes.

Demonstration Women Publish New Cook Book

North Carolina's home demonstration women have just published a cookbook.

This particular collection has more than 400 recipes representing every area of the Tar Heel State — favorites of the mountain folk as well as of the coastal families. The book features not only some of the fine old Southern dishes which have been handed down from family to family through the generations, but also includes new, up-to-date recipes — favorites of club members, their families and friends.

Miss Staunton explains that all cookbook proceeds will go into the state home demonstration treasury to help with general expenses of the organization. Persons interested may obtain a copy by seeing the home demonstration agent.
