Swafford's Sayin's
Any day now, you may come here and find me all stooped over, walking with a cane. I knew there was something ailing me—making me feel bad—have aches and pains—get all fagged out—hair turning gray and thinning—having to wear bifocals—teeth coming out—and the Lord only knows what else. Now I know (you won't have to tell me) I'm getting old. My wife and I had an anniversary the other day—(don't ask me which one) and she reminded me of the number of years we have lived together—my—my—how time flies. I hadn't realized how old I am until she told me. So please—please—when you come to my store—just look around and get what you want and put it on the counter, for I'm too old to run around like I used to. Maybe I'll get over it in a few days.
Before I hush—speaking of anniversaries reminds me—Breathes there a man with such a little head,
Who to his wife has never said, "You've been boss ere since we wed."??
I'll be seein' you.
