takes on the part of his organization.

This action, on the part of General Pate, as the head of one of the branches of service, was almost unheard of.

The marine commander deserves credit for the forthright and frank way he has met this situation. But, I, also, hope that he urges that mercy be shown McKeon.

According to most strong segregationists in the South, anyone who disagrees with them is supposed to be under the influence of the northern wing of the National Society for the Advancement of Colored People or the Communist party. To which of these diabolical forces do they give credit for dominating the thinking of Edwin L. Jones, of Charlotte, outstanding North Carolina industrialist and church worker. Recently at Minneapolis, Mr. Jones joined other Methodist lay leaders and ministers in adopting a resolution which condemned racial segregation, "by any method or practice."

'Aunt Maggie' Slagle Dies
At Her Cartoogechaye Home

As she chatted with her daughter and a neighbor from her bed in the old family homeplace on Cartoogechaye Wednesday afternoon of last week, "Aunt Maggie" Slagle died.

In her passing, Macon County loses one of its most colorful citizens for "Aunt Maggie" was no ordinary woman. She had traveled widely in her younger years and was affectionately known as the "mother" of the Cartoogechaye community. On April 13, she marked her 89th birthday, and much to her delight, was featured in a "Friday the 13th" profile article by John Parris in the Asheville Citizen. Her church and flower garden also occupied much of her time.

Funeral services for Mrs. Slagle were conducted Friday at 2 p. m. at the Mt. Zion Methodist Church. Officiating were the Rev. Robert Goldston, the Rev. A. Rufus Morgan, and the Rev. C. B. Yeargen. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Daughter of Mack and Mrs. Nancy Gillespie, "Aunt Maggie" was a member of the Mt. Zion church and had served as Sunday School superintendent for several years. She held life membership in the Women's Society of Christian Service, was a member of the Nequassa Chapter, Order of Eastern Star, and of the American Legion Auxiliary. Her husband, J. Henry Slagle, died many years ago.

Before declining health forced her to slow down several years ago, "Aunt Maggie" traveled a great deal. At the age of 65, she joined a group of Gold Star Mothers from this county for a visit to France. Her son, Cpl. Mack Slagle, was killed in action in France in World War I.

She also had visited Puerto Rico and had made seven trips to the west coast to see her children.

Her companion for the past 30 years was Miss Nancy Jones, who lived with her at the old Slagle home.

Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Joe Setser, of Franklin, Route 1; five sons, Jess, Frank, and Hal Slagle, of Randall, Wash., Fred Slagle, of Route 1, and Dr. T. D. Slagle, of Sylva; a sister, Mrs. Ed Pressnell, also of Randall; 21 grandchildren; and 33 great-grandchildren.

Palbearers were Frederick Slagle, Ned Slagle, Mack Setser, Tom Setser, Randolph Bulgin, and Albert Ramsey.

Bryant Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.
