

Two Tales Are Outcome, Really, Of Visit Here Of Norris Family

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Norris and family, of Everett, Wash., were here last week, visiting the J. R. (Jim) Morrison family. And there hangs a tale — two tales, really.

The first is the fact, revealed by Mr. Norris, that there are so many Tar Heels in Washington — most of them from this and other Western North Carolina counties — that they have an association of North Carolinians in the State of Washington. Mr.

Norris is president of that organization, and he said that, at the organization's recent annual picnic, more than three hundred were present.

The second story has to do with corn meal. When Mr. Norris was here last, six years ago, he took back with him a bag of Macon County water-ground corn meal. He gave some to a neighbor, and ever since, the neighbor has been reminding him: "Be sure to bring me a bag of that mountain corn meal, the next time you are in North Carolina!" (Mr. Norris explained that "the corn meal we get out there just isn't the same thing".)

So, when the Norris family left here Monday morning, they carried with them two 25-pound bags of Macon County corn meal, to be enjoyed on the other side of the continent.

On their visit east, the Norrises have spent most of their time in Waynesville, where Mr. Norris has two sisters and a brother living.

Rites For Mrs. Picklesimer Conducted Here On Sunday

Mrs. Frances Picklesimer, 66, a native of this county, who died August 19 in Everett, Wash., where she had been living for the past nine months, was buried in the church cemetery Sunday following services at the Dryman's Chapel Methodist Church.

Officiating were the Rev. Glenn Anderson and the Rev. R. L. Poindexter.

Mrs. Picklesimer was the widow of E. B. Picklesimer, who died July 16, 1953. They were married in 1912.

Born March 31, 1890, she was the daughter of H. F. and Mrs. Callie Brown Jones.

Surviving are two sons, Ralph Picklesimer, of Tokyo, Japan, and Samuel N. Picklesimer, of Gold Bar, Wash.; a brother, Samuel Jones, of Monroe, Wash.; a sister, Mrs. Emma Ramey, of Brevard; and two grandchildren.

Serving as pallbearers were Ralph and Ras Justice, Hayes Buchanan, Neville Buchanan, Bobby Conley, and Howell Justice.

Bryant Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Reese Sweepstakes Winner Of Flower Show

Mrs. Robert Reese has again won the sweepstakes award in the annual flower show presented by the Highlands Garden Club. She had a total of 113 points.

In second place, with 73 points, was Mrs. J. Manson Valentine. In horticulture, Mrs. A. T. Carter won the tri-color again this year with her gold-band lily. Mrs. Irene McConnell won the tri-color ribbon in arrangements.

Theme of this year's show, held August 17-18 in the school auditorium, was "Mountain Symphony of Forest and Gardens."

An unusual exhibit catching the attention of the public as it entered the auditorium, was a display of bigonias arranged on the stage by Dr. Willard Parry. Club members report the show was well-attended and fulfilled all expectations.

DEATH TAKES MRS. SETSER

Native Succumbs At Clinic Saturday; Mt. Hope Rites

Mrs. Nannie Crawford Setser, of Franklin, Route 1, widow of Frank L. Setser, died about 4 a. m. Saturday at Angel Clinic, where she had been a patient for three weeks.

Sixty-seven years old, she had been ill for several months at her home before entering the hospital.

Funeral services were conducted Sunday at 11 a. m. at the Mt. Hope Baptist Church by the Rev. John Ralph Willis, the Rev. Arvil Swafford, and the Rev. M. C. Wyatt. Burial was in the Mt. Zion Methodist Church cemetery.

Mrs. Setser was born May 26, 1889, a daughter of Emerson and Mrs. Ellen Conley Crawford. She and Mr. Setser were married in November, 1923. He died many years ago.

Mrs. Setser is survived by four step-sons, Bryan and Gilmer Setser, both of Route 1, Fred Setser, of Atlanta, Ga., and Alex Setser, of Chamblee, Ga.; two step-daughters, Mrs. Furman Angel, of Franklin, and Mrs. Jake Matthews, of Decatur, Ga.; a brother, Cecil Crawford, of Route 1; three sisters, Mrs. Gordon Smith, of Route 4, Mrs. Fred Corbin, of Route 5, and Mrs. Charles Higdon, of Brookfield.

Serving as pallbearers were W. G. Crawford, John Crawford, Bobby Joe Corbin, Frank Smith, and Ed and James Setser. Bryant Funeral Home was in charge.

MAKE LIBRARY GIFT

The Churches of God of the Franklin district have presented to The Franklin Library a book entitled "Like A Mighty Army", by Charles W. Conn, a history of the Church of God, according to an announcement made by the Rev. W. D. Walker, district pastor.

Farm stocks of corn in North Carolina were estimated on July 1 at 13,973,000 bushels. This is about 42 per cent above the July 1955 stocks.

1922-1956

YES, sir, we're 34 years old!

We're right proud of this birthday, because this one brings us to the Third-of-a-Century mark.

A third of a century! Think of it. Children unborn when we started in business, back in 1922, have been born, grown up, married, and now have children of their own.

But proud as we are of our AGE, we're prouder still of some Other Things.

Most of all, we take pride in our RECORD. It isn't every concern that stays in business a third of a century, and when one does, there's a reason.

In our case, we think there are two.

First, we've tried to SERVE the people of Franklin and Macon County, and of this whole region. It has been our conviction, from the first, that "what's good for our customers is good for us".

And so — and this is the second reason — our Customers have become our Friends. And of course it is their patronage that has made it possible for us to grow and enlarge our service to the people of the area.

As we mark a third of a century in business, therefore, we are proudest of all that we have so many and such loyal Business Friends.

To every single customer, over these 34 years, whether he bought a dime's worth of nails or the materials for a home, we are deeply grateful.
