J. H. FULTON DIES FRIDAY

Was Farmer-Teacher;
Services Conducted
At Bethel Church

John Henry Fulton, 89, farmer and teacher here, died Friday (August 24) at 12:05 a. m. at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Myrtle F. Keener, on Franklin, Route 5.

Funeral services for Mr. Fulton, who had been ill two years, were conducted the following afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Sugarfork Baptist Church. Officiating was the Rev. Robert L. Poindexter.

Burial was in the church cemetery.

Mr. Fulton was born December 16, 1866, the son of R. King and Mrs. Carolyn Sanders Fulton. He was a member of the Bethel Methodist Church and on January 3, 1900 was married to Miss Laura Jane Higdon, who died in 1950.

In addition to Mrs. Keener, he is survived by two other daughters, Mrs. T. T. Henderson and Mrs. Pritchard Peck, both of Franklin, Route 5; a son, Mack Fulton, of Alexandria, Va.; five grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Troy Shook, Mack Norris, Wiley Clark, William Tilson, J. T. McCoy, and Lee Keener.

Bryant Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

All-Guest Program Features Meeting Of Music Club

An all-guest program featured the meeting of the Franklin Music Study Club at its meeting last Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Allen Siler. Mrs. S. B. Moss was co-hostess.

Appearing on the program were Miss Freda Siler, who played two piano solos, "Impromptu" by Schubert, revised by Liszt, and "Prelude No. 4", by Chopin; Mrs. E. R. Kinnebrew, of Memphis, Tenn., sang a group of French songs and a few contemporary selections, with Mrs. Weimar Jones, accompanist; Miss Libby Murray, of Gastonia, played a piano solo, "Prelude No. 2, Opus 38", by the modern composer, Paul Creston. Thirteen members and seven guests were present.
