Humphreys Talks At Cullasaja

By MISS MARIE JENNINGS (Community Reporter)

Chester Humphreys, of Tampa, Fla., was the guest speaker at the September 4 meeting of the Cullasaja Rural Community Development Organization.

He gave a short talk on his work at McDill Air Force Base, where he is a chief engineer.

Mr. and Mrs. Humphreys are vacationing at their home on Nickajack.

With the county fair coming in the near future, most of the business discussion centered around plans for a booth. The following were appointed to work on the booth committee: Mrs. Elma Russell, Mrs. Leona Sadler, Mrs. Bessie Stiwinter, Mrs. Grace Rogers, Fred Rogers, Gordon Gibson, Charlie Holland, and John Bryson. Anyone interested in helping with some of the work may get in touch with any of the committee members.

Everyone also is urged to enter individual exhibits in the fair.

A pot-luck supper will be served in the school lunchroom on Saturday night, September 22, with the proceeds going to the community club's treasury. The public is invited to attend. String music will be by local talent.

The group has voted to donate $15 to the Cullasaja Assembly of God church for the new church building.

Pat Cable, club president, reported that E. G. Crisp made and donated the signs for the picnic area.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Carter, who have completed a new house in the community, have moved and are welcomed into the community.

Macon Among Lowest In Farm Tenancy

Macon County is one of the five lowest counties in the state in farm tenancy with 6.2 per cent, according to an article appearing in the summer issue of Research and Farming, publication of the Agricultural Experiment Station at N. C. State College.

The article points out that the eastern portion of the state has the highest tenancy rate.

Avery County, with 4.9, has the lowest percentage. The other three and their figures are Alexander, 5.1; Mitchell, 5.6; and Jackson, 6.2.
