Scrapbook Shows Style Of 1860's

Women's styles of a century ago are portrayed in an unusual scrapbook in the possession of Lemuel E. Heaton, of Franklin, Route 2.

A big book, it contains evidence that most of the illustrations it is filled with date back to the 1860's.

It pictures not only women's dress styles of that time, but also the types of handwork Southern women of that period engaged in, the sort of laces and other trimmings they used, and other details of life a century ago.

The scrapbook was made by Mr. Heaton's aunt, Mrs. Kennie Heaton-Knox, who, with her husband, traveled all over the United States and Canada in connection with his work as a civil engineer.

An interesting feature of the scrapbook is that, at the edges, extending beyond the pasted-in illustrations, is writing, indicating the book earlier was some sort of a record. What it records, though, Mr. Heaton points out, is hidden under the pictures.
