CULLASAJA GROUP SEES TB MOVIE

Mrs. Russell Tells About Health Meet; Workings Slated

By MISS MARIE JENNINGS
(Community Reporter)

Those attending the May 7 meeting of the Cullasaja Rural Community Development Organization at the school saw a film about tuberculosis entitled, "You Can Help", shown by 4-Hers Morris Bryson, Carroll Arnold, and Furman Ledford.

Mrs. Pritchard Russell reviewed the recent health conference held at East Franklin School and discussed the benefits derived from the local fund drives. She also talked about rural health resources and cited things the community can do to help people with health problems.

She announced that the mobile X-ray unit would be at Cullasaja community on May 21 and urged every one to get a free X-ray at that time.

The song service was conducted by Mrs. David Stanfield, Mrs. Roy Stiwner, and Mrs. Leona Sadler. Pat Cable gave the devotional and led the group in prayer.

May 18 was set as a clean up day at the Sugarfork Cemetery and May 25 at Salem Cemetery. All members are asked to help with this work.

The time for the monthly meetings has been changed from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

It also was voted to join the 1957 W.N.C. Rural Community Development Organization.

Reported home improvements: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gibson have painted their tourist cabins; Mr. and Mrs. John Bryson have painted a room and reupholstered two chairs; Mr. and Mrs. George Gregory have a new home freezer and washing machine; Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Henderson have a television and have installed a telephone; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bowers have built a new room and porch; Ed Jennings has a new power plow, which he bought several months ago but failed to report to the organization.

Heard And Seen ON MACON BYWAYS

By ROLFE NEILL

Considering the interest in gifted children in Macon County—although at present we have no specific program for them—I thought some would like to know what Portland, Ore., is doing along this line.

At Portland, they don't think just in terms of high intellectual achievements. They talk of "exceptionally endowed" children. This may cover auto mechanics, music, writing, dancing, and so on. Now in its fifth year, the Oregon program provides for:

1. Many kinds of unusual ability.
2. Experimentation with methods that will develop such abilities, and training of good teachers.
3. Development of an educational plan for promising students which will avoid permanently-fixed grouping.
4. Cooperation with colleges for following up students from the program.

A SIGN was placed in the window of a Bidwell Street home bearing the notice: "Piano for Sale." In the window of the house next door another sign appeared. It said: "Hurrah!"

"DON'T I KNOW this place? Didn't it used to be up on the head of Ellijay?"

Indeed it did, Don B. Smith told the man.

"It was the old Henry log cabin," the visitor went on. "Aunt Peg Henry. She was noted for her cooking and her hospitality. I've eaten many a meal there."

Mr. Smith, who operates a mountain products shop on the Highlands road, just beyond the Franklin town limits, bought the old log structure, moved it from Ellijay, and had it put up again on his property. A planned board was found when the building was being dismantled with the carving on it: "T. P. Henry, 1885."

THE STATE superintendent of public instruction said it:

"Reason as we may about it, gush as we may about the nobility of the work and the glorious rewards of it hereafter, back of this question of better teachers must still lie the cold business question of better pay."

Yes, the state superintendent said it. But that was J. Y. Joyner, in 1907. I regret to inform Mr. Joyner that times haven't changed.

A DOWN-East reader writes a letter about the special education issue of The Press, most of which was written by teachers, incidentally:

"Some sort of prize for the special edition should go to your paper. One thing that I was particularly interested in was the story on Miss Elizabeth Kelly. She was our authority on everything about teaching in the days when I was teaching. I had not even thought about her coming from Macon County."

KELSO, WASH. That's the postmark on another letter. It answers a question asked in this column a couple of weeks back.

"You wonder if we have Tar Heel conventions. No, we don't, but quite a few of us Tar Heels attend the same church."

And here's some news of interest to folks in Cartoogechaye: "Well," the letter continues, "I had better tell you that Walter Anderson's family and the others arrived safe and sound. But instead of a population of 13,015, Longview now has about 23,015. It is a pretty city. Kelso, which adjoins it, has about 9,000. There are a lot of Tar Heels in both places."

THE SUBJECT turned to court reporting, not by the newspaper people but by the court stenographer whose transcript is the official record of the proceedings. Guy Houk was right, I believe, when he said it won't be long before electronics will take over.

Mr. Houk points out that it all could be done on tape. This would end forever the question of who said what and exactly what he said. It's the exactly business where things sometimes get complicated.

DESPITE THE several requests of his wife to get the TV set repaired, Buddy Biddle let it slide. About halfway through the time when Gypsy Rose Lee was scheduled to be on the other night, his wife idly commented that this was the evening the famous strip-teaser was making an appearance. The set was fixed the next day.

LAX DILLS, from Poplar Cove, was in town telling of the glories of fishing. Fishing, I thought, certainly inspires men to eloquent

FHS Seniors Tour W.C.C.

Thirty-nine Franklin High seniors with plans for continuing their education after graduation this spring recently toured the campus of Western Carolina College for a sampling of college life.

The seniors had lunch in the college cafeteria, heard a musical program presented by Dr. Richard Renfrow, went swimming in the college pool, and watched a tennis match between W. C. C. and Carson Newman and a baseball game between W. C. C. and Lenoir Rhyne.

Those making the trip included Lewis Cabe, Alex Cabe, Douglas Mann, Dale Myers, Bill Fouts, David Pollock, Larry Potts, Larry Raby, Frank Smith, Jim Tysinger, B. L. Roper, Rance Talent, Randolph Bulgin, James Huscusson, Nancy Sutton, Violet Welch, Elizabeth W. Cabe, Joan Thomas, Frances Seay, Patricia Tatham, Loretta McDowell, Jean Phillips, Jean Sutton, Joan Mincey, Barbara Pressley, Evelyn Joines, Mary Lee Howard, Ruby Fox, Ellen Calloway, Mildred Burch, Alice Angel, Eva Carpenter, Launa Baker, Sarah Crawford, Pat Cloer, Doris Bailey, Elizabeth Clark, Helen speeches. It turned out, however, that it was only the warmup. Lax's real text was on the joy of eating ramps. He said there's nothing to beat them and I vowed to take his word for it until I could sample a mess of them for myself.

BULL DURHAM tobacco has gone the way of Arbuckle's coffee — off the market. Tobacco chewing is Brady's news beat but in the interests of tobacco chewers everywhere I pass on this word from W. E. (Gene) Baldwin.

There's to be no more of the big 35 cent Reynold's and Apple plugs. Mr. Baldwin said a salesman so informed him the other day. Seems the tobacco in those was 10 years old or so, bought at a cheaper price. To make the big plugs with newer, higher priced weed would make the selling cost too much. You'd better lay in a supply boys (if there's any left).

A. R. C. Drive Officially Over; $1,534.93 Raised

Macon County's 1957 American Red Cross fund drive has officially closed with $1,534.93, according to Mrs. Elizabeth McCollum, executive secretary.

She said the total does not include funds from Highlands, which is conducting its own campaign.

Cartoogechaye led all organized communities with a contribution of $180.17, the secretary reported. Soap'n water will clean up your feet—but they won't clear up ATHLETES FOOT.
