SCHOOL NEWS—The grade mothers of the first, second, and third grades are sponsoring a "Spring Festival" Saturday night, March 26, at the school.

The evening of fun will begin at 7:30, and you are promised good entertainment for all the family.

There will be a show of latest fashions in ladies' clothing, modeled by the men and boys of the community. There will be square dancing by a group of 4-H'ers. Then you will have the opportunity of buying good home-made cakes, pies, and cookies, cake-walking, buying tickets on a coffee maker, and just plenty of other activity for a good time. All proceeds will go toward buying some much-needed equipment for the classrooms of the primary grades.

COMMUNITY NEWS — Cartoogechaye Community Development meeting is set at the community building Thursday night, March 20, at 7:30. Mrs. Mabel Swan, assistant home demonstration agent, and John J. Wrinn, assistant county agent, will lead in a discussion of community development and needs. Later in the evening, Mrs. Joe Setser, president, will show the group some slides on life in Antarctica. These pictures were sent to her recently by her brother, Dr. Dick Slagle, who is with a group of United States forces now stationed in the Antarctic.

THIS AND THAT—The Rev. A. Rufus Morgan is spending most of this week in Columbia, S. C., visiting friends. Mrs. Fred Slagle recently returned from a three-week vacation. She spent one week in Atlanta, where she visited her daughter, Miss Mary Slagle, and her son, Frederick Slagle, and his family. Then she went to Sanford, Fla., for two weeks to be with Fred Slagle, and to visit other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Slagle and family, and Miss Mary Slagle, of Atlanta, spent the past week-end in Cartoogechaye community visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Slagle and Mrs. and Mrs. Cecil Crawford.

Mrs. Earl Harrison and Jess Shope were called to Norfolk, Va., last week to be with their mother, Mrs. Zeb Shope, who is seriously ill. Another daughter, Mrs. Swafford, fifth grade teacher at Cartoogechaye School, is spending this week in Norfolk with Mrs. Shope.

Mrs. Rex Andrus and Mrs. Julian Maddox attended a music work shop at Western Carolina College last week. The work shop was sponsored by the home demonstration clubs of Western North Carolina.
