PROJECT THIS FALL - State Highway To By-Pass Scenic Bridal Veil Falls

Bridal Veil Falls, Macon County's much-photographed waterfall wonder on US 64 between Franklin and Highlands, may be a scenic "must" for travelers, but it's a wintertime pain-in-the-neck to the State Highway Department. But it's a pain that will be corrected at the end of the tourist season in the fall, according to Nelson Waldroop, county highway supervisor. The beautiful cascade that pours over the highway is going to be by-passed by construction of a small section of road that will enable winter travelers to drive on US 64 without experiencing delays when the falls freezes and ice blocks the highway. Won't Detract Mr. Waldroop said the road under the falls will still be maintained and the state plans to landscape the by-pass so it will not detract from the natural beauty of Bridal Veil Falls.

Both the regular road under the falls and the by-pass will be open at all times. From the standpoint of maintenance, this past winter was just more than the highway department could take from the falls. Almost Lost It Not only did maintenance crews have to keep a constant watch for ice on the highway, they almost lost a piece of machinery to the cascade. It happened one bitterly cold morning. A road scraper was dispatched to the falls to break up an ice jam that had formed overnight. During the operation, the scraper slipped over the edge and before it could be pulled back on the highway Bridal Veil Falls and freezing temperatures encased it in ice (see picture). That did it! The by-pass project will be let to contract in the fall.

BY-PASS COMING

Macon County's scenic Bridal Veil Falls is going to be by-passed in a highway project this fall. In the above picture, the by-pass will cross at the right, eliminating the curve under the falls. At left is a graphic illustration of why a by-pass is going to be built at the falls. Under all that ice, believe it or not, is state highway motor grader that stalled last winter while working to break ice loose and was soon put in a deep freeze itself. The by-pass and the road under the falls both will be open, and the new section will be landscaped in order not to detract from the natural beauty of Bridal Veil.
