Murphy Speaker
The visiting speaker at the morning worship service Sunday, January 25, at 11 a. m. at the Holly Springs Baptist Church will be the Rev. Leonard McClure, of near Murphy.

Women Meet
The women of the Holly Springs Home Demonstration Club held their monthly meeting January 15 at the home of Mrs. Don Seagle.

Presiding in the absence of the present was Mrs. Seagle, vice-president.

The devotional thoughts for the new year were given by Mrs. Earl Justice.

Mrs. Sam Winkleblack, the home beautification leader, gave a report on the care of potted plants and flowering shrubs. The correct method for pruning fruit trees also was presented.

A discussion concerning plans for a county-wide beautification project was led by Mrs. Jack Cane and Mrs. Florence S. Sherrill. Mrs. Cane represents the community development organization.

A discussion was held concerning the adoption of a foster child. Mrs. Sherrill explained that it would cost $15 per month to support a child and she suggested that each interested club, or a total of 15 clubs, contribute a $1 per month. Holly Springs voted to cooperate in the project. For several months club members have been making club spending money from cakes baked by members. Each cake contains a dime. At the meetings, cake is served at 10 cents per slice. The member receiving the slice with the dime has to bake the cake for the next meeting. This money will be used to support the foster child project.

Mrs. Sherrill gave a report on the outlook for 1959 and a demonstration on "Guideposts to Good Meals".

A new member, Mrs. Helen Taylor, was welcomed by the group. Refreshments were served to the 12 women by Mrs. Seagle and the co-hostess, Mrs. Paul Ammons.

DURING JANUARY — Agricultural Agent Asks Cooperation In '59 Census

Macon County farmers have been asked to cooperate in the state's annual 1959 Township Farm Census this month by T. H. Fagg, county agricultural agent.

Mr. Fagg says that the census will be taken this month as farmers list their 1959 taxes. Tax lists are cooperating in the census to get the vital information which agricultural leaders can use in working out plans for agricultural programs. The census is required by law, and the state Department of Agriculture and boards of county commissioners are responsible for carrying it out.

The agricultural agent explains that the information obtained in the census is held in confidence. It is used only for compiling accurate statistics on land use, crop acreages and livestock numbers.

David S. Weaver, director of the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, emphasizes that the annual North Carolina Township Farm Census should not be confused with the federal government's general agricultural census every five years. He said "through the annual North Carolina Farm Census, we have the machinery for obtaining vital statistical data that helps keep this state on the right road, agriculturally."

Some of the questions farmers will be expected to answer include: total acreage for each tract over three acres, number of acres from which crops were harvested in 1958, number acres of idle crop land, improved pasture, data on individual crops, cattle, hogs and chickens.
