Local Company
Helping Sponsor
School Program

The Conley Motor Company in Franklin is cooperating with the Science Education Service and the schools of Macon County in the improvement of the schools' audiovisual programs, it was announced this week.

Conley Motor Company is co-sponsoring with Science Education Service 50 per cent of the cost of a group of science and health educational 35mm slide films, along with necessary equipment for showing these films, such as projection screens, projection tables, etc.

Under the plan, each school which participates in the program has approximately $60, or fifty per cent of the total cost of the materials and equipment, sponsored by the two cooperating agencies — Conley Motor Company and Science Education Service.

Educators throughout the country have welcomed the series of science films, which deal with "How Television Works", "How Atomic Energy Helps Mankind", "Controlling Fire", and "Automobile Safety". The health films present a complete curriculum in students' care of their bodies and important health rules.
