

THE MAIN STREET FORUM — What Would You Contribute To Macon If Given A Chance

How often we comment, "Wish I had a million"; then, go on to explain just what we'd do with it. MAIN STREET FORUM this week offers, not a million dollars, but the opportunity for people to decide what contribution they would make to their community if given the chance. This, of course, points up some of the shortcomings of the county, since most of the things they would contribute are things we don't have.

HOW MACON STOOD IN '58 — Successful Extension Program Based On Joint Organization

N. C. Extension Service work in Macon County has long been developed and administered on the theory that joint organization and thoughtful planning are a prerequisite to a successful program. This has become increasingly apparent over the years with agricultural and homemaking programs become more and more complex, more workers in the county, and more people seeking the latest information on their farm and home problems.

"4-H Sunday" programs were given in 40 churches in the county. One 4-H parade, with 14 floats participating and two thousand attending, was held during "National 4-H Club Week." Also during this week, a 4-H radio program was given each day, as well as wide publicity through the local press, plus store window, and school displays. Twelve members attended "4-H Week" in Raleigh. Twenty-seven members attended 4-H camp at Camp Schaub, Macon County was represented by four club members and one agent at Leadership Training Camp at Swannanoa. As a result of this camp, the council decided to hold a county leadership training at Camp Highlands for older club officers, using extension workers, leaders, and 4-H members as instructors. This camp was patterned after the one held in Swannanoa. All 27 persons attending this camp agreed that it was an outstanding success. We believe that this is the first attempt of its kind tried in the state, and we highly recommend it to the other counties. Nine excellent 4-H booths were entered in the local fair under the sponsorship of the 4-H County Council, local 4-H officers, and adult leaders. 4-H record book workshops were held in all clubs this year. This was under the sponsorship of the county council to create more interest in completion of records and the keeping of long-time records. A garden contest was sponsored by the 4-H County Council and Rural Community Development Council cooperating. One county "Achievement Day" was held, with two hundred attending. A county "Demonstration Day," with an attendance of one hundred and fifty was presented, and 38 county club members participated in district "Demonstration Day" in Asheville.

For several years, adult 4-H leaders have been of great help in Macon County, but with changes in leaders from time to time we felt the need of an intensive leader training session. This was done this year. Two training meetings, a week apart, were held, to which some 100 leaders were invited. These meetings lasted approximately two hours each and many phases of 4-H club work were discussed and studied. As instructors, extension agents, 4-H members, and experienced 4-H leaders were used. The meetings were well attended and expressions from the leaders themselves proved that this type of training was very worthwhile.

The U. S. D. Farm organization in Macon County in 1958 consisted of 27 farm families. The organization was supervised by a committee consisting of three men and one woman, with the county agent and assistant T. V. A. agent acting in an advisory capacity. The committee's duties and responsibilities were the selection and approval of new farms on the program, approval of fertilizer requisitions, setting up policies for the program, and supervising the finances of the organization.

The annual Macon County Fair is held under the joint sponsorship of the Macon County Fair Association and the Agricultural Workers Council. In 1958, the fourth year the fair had been held, a continued healthy growth was noted. Three hundred and twenty-three exhibitors entered between fifteen hundred and two thousand individual exhibits. This is a small increase in exhibitors, but almost double the number of individual exhibits. Included in these exhibits were 43 booths entered by community groups, 4-H, home demonstration, F. F. A., F. H. A., civic organizations, and agricultural agencies. The gratifying part of the fair was the outstanding quality of the exhibits this year. The fair association sponsored a chicken barbecue in conjunction with the fair this year, at which over 300 people were fed. This added approximately $300 to help defray the fair expenses.

For the first time radio has been used for a full year. We have found this to be an excellent media for informing the people on all phases of the extension program. Planned programs are presented each day, using all agricultural agencies in order to present a well-round picture of our situation.

The Macon Home Demonstration County Council is a supervisory group composed of the officers and project leaders of the 20 clubs in the county. This group met at timely intervals during 1958 to determine policies and plan and expedite their program of work. Local leaders are trained by this group to hold demonstrations and workshops and to assist 4-H club members in their project work. Very close cooperation and relationships were maintained between this group, 4-H groups, community development organizations, and farmer groups for the promotion of a sound extension program in the county.

The 4-H County Council is composed of all officers of 4-H clubs in the county under the supervision of 4-H agents and leaders. In 1958 this council accomplished more, we believe, than ever before. The council held regular monthly meetings with an average attendance of 40 members. A goal was set three years ago by the council to have 20 school and 10 community clubs by 1959. That goal has been reached this year.

Parrish Resigns Fouts Named A. S. C. Group Chairman

Max Parrish, of Otto, has resigned as chairman of the county A.S.C. committee and Milton Fouts, the committee's vice-chairman, has been named to succeed him. Siler Slagle, of Cartoogechaye, has stepped into Mr. Fouts' old office and Edwin T. Bradley, of Iotla, who was first alternate, is now a regular member. The new chairman, Mr. Fouts, lives in the Cowee section.

Never Hurry, Take Your Time, Enjoy Living

"How can we do the things we ought to do and all the things we want to do without whizzing through life like a rocket," asks Mrs. Corinne J. Grimsey. Mrs. Grimsey, family relations specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service, suggests these "time stretchers" to help you make the most of your life: Never hurry! For each moment saved by speed, two moments are lost "resting up." Try to live by a plan — not a rigid schedule, but a clear idea of what you hope to accomplish. Know how long a particular task will take. If you don't have a clear idea of its value you can't budget your time any more than you can budget your money. Skip the non-essential time-consumers on your list. How important or necessary is each task? Take a generous "hunk" of time to do absolutely nothing. Relax! Check on yourself. How do you feel about your job in life? Wanting to do things is what keeps most people moving! At the end of the day they don't feel pushed because they know it has all been worthwhile.

BIRTHS MRS. CRAWFORD IS HONORED WITH SHOWER

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Bob Waldroop, Mrs. Bob Parker, Mrs. Siler Slagle, and Mrs. L. A. Moore. The color scheme carried out in the decorations and party cakes were yellow, white, and green. Approximately 30 guests called during the evening.
