Cloggers Share Fame With Another Team

Never let it be said that Macon County's famous Smoky Mountain Cloggers aren't willing to share their fame.

When the Cloggers found they couldn't appear Saturday night on a new television show over WJHL, Channel 11, in Johnson City, Tenn., their manager, Mrs. Lols Roberson, telephoned Mrs. Esther Cunningham, who manages another Macon dance team, the Carson Cloggers. She wanted to know if the Carson group couldn't fill the date.

Well, they not only could, but did, and from all reports put on an excellent performance for their home county, which is rapidly developing the title of, "Square Dance Capital of the World." The Carson dancers opened the show and also were featured for a special number.

Also appearing with Carson on the show were some Grand Ole Opry stars like Carl Butler, "Duke of Paduka", Helen Carter, and Mother Maybelle. The show originated at the National Guard Armory and had a live audience.

Friday night, the Carson Cloggers danced at Fontana for the 4-H Regional Resources Development Conference, and tonight (Thursday) will dance at the 4-H camp, Camp Shaub, near Waynesville.
