HELPFUL HINTS

PROPER WASHING FOR SWEATERS — Wash sweaters before they are badly soiled.

Remove fancy buttons, ornaments or trimmings, as well as shoulder pads, before washing.

Make an outline of sweater on heavy paper or a Turkish towel before washing. Of course this is not necessary if a drying form is used.

Do not soak colored sweaters. Wash quickly and gently by hand. Squeeze suds through sweater. Do not rub hard or twist. Gentle action must be used particularly with woollens to avoid shrinkage. Soiled spots can be treated by working in some of the top suds with the fingers.

Rinse thoroughly in clear, lukewarm water.

Squeeze out as much water as possible.

Roll sweater in Turkish towel and knead gently to remove excess moisture.

Unroll immediately and lay sweater on outline, stretching to size or place on drying form.

Separate contrasting colors with dry towel inserted between back and front panels of sweater and then dry quickly in front of a fan or in some airy place away from heat. When entirely dry, brush angoras or other fleecy types to fluff up nap.

HOUSEHOLD SAFETY PRACTICES — There are approved working methods and safe procedures for using household equipment. It is well to keep these in mind when you go about your house work.

When you wash clothes, wear rubber-soled shoes if floors are damp when using electric laundry equipment.

Know how to operate emergency releases on laundry equipment.

Test temperature of hot water from faucets cautiously before putting hands in it.

Make sure appliance cords do not get damp under normal use.

Avoid carrying loads of clothes so big you cannot see where you are walking.

Make sure hands are dry before connecting or disconnecting electrical laundry equipment or touching light switches.

Follow manufacturer's directions for proper removal of lint from dryer.

heavy objects on lower shelves.

Store equipment and supplies as close as possible to work area in which they will be used to avoid unnecessary carrying of heavy articles.

Have sturdy stepladder or safe stepstool handy for reaching high places.

Close cupboard doors and drawers immediately after use.

Fasten shelves securely to walls.

Have shelves sufficiently strong to hold stored material without sagging or collapsing.

SUGGESTIONS FOR GOOD GROOMING—Every woman wants to be attractive. And why not?

A desire to be pleasing to others, our family, our friends, even to strangers is a perfectly worthy ambition, one that needs no apologies.

Attractiveness is not just one specific quality. It is a summing up of such characteristics as health, manners, figure, posture, clothes, make-up, hair, and above all, basic cleanliness. A beautiful face with a sullen manner is not permanently attractive, nor does the most gorgeous hair seem glamorous if the eye must adjust to a muddy complexion or slovenly dress. Poise, grooming, radiance and attractiveness make for appreciated beauty.

Take a look at yourself in a full length mirror. Are you dumpty, shapeless; is your hair a mess; your sweater soiled; your lipstick smeared? Be honest with yourself. Note your good and weak points and start right in on a corrective program.

Limit those between-meal snacks (if you must have them) to fruit juice, milk, ices or sherbets and small glasses of soft drinks. Diet should be simple and well-balanced. Eat plenty of fruit, roughage foods, fresh vegetables, meat and milk. Avoid eating excessively greasy foods and too many sweets, such as chocolate and soft drinks.

Farm Questions

Q. What are the advantages of polled dorset sheep over other breeds?

A. The new strain of polled dorsets has received a lot of attention lately. Actually, the fact that they are polled, while their ancestors had horns, is what makes them more useful and easy to handle. Horns make shearing more difficult, sometimes grow into the head, and frequently get caught in woven wire fences and farm equipment. And polled animals require less feed bunk space and are not subject to infestation by the horn worm.

Q. How much of the beef consumed in North Carolina is produced in this state?

A. Home slaughtered beef amounted to about 2 per cent of the consumption in the state in 1958, or roughly 6 million pounds. Of the estimated 282 million pounds of beef purchased through retail outlets in North Carolina last year only about a fifth came from cattle produced and slaughtered in this state.

Q. Just where does North Carolina stand as a beef-producing state?

A. Although cattle production has increased considerably in North Carolina in recent years, the state still remains a relatively minor producer of cattle. In 1958 cattle and calf production amounted to about 125 million pounds, one-half of 1 per cent of the total U.S. production.

Q. Will milk control tobacco mosaic?

A. Yes, apparently. Agricultural research in North Carolina in 1958 and 1959 has shown that when sprayed on tobacco plants before transplanting, milk greatly reduces the seriousness of tobacco mosaic disease. Even better results are obtained when workers dip their hands in milk before handling the transplants.

which they will no longer be able to operate under Duke rates?

Does Nantahala owe nothing to the communities which it has served and as a result of the confidence and support of these communities has grown to its present size? Does it owe nothing to its loyal employees who have served it well and who have their homes and families in the area?

A careful study of all of the pertinent factors indicates that the public interest is best served by the Nantahala Power and Light Company continuing to operate as it has in the past. You are urged to make this possible by refusing to approve this proposed sale.

Disagrees With Editorial

Editor, The Franklin Press:

Referring to your September 2 editorial, "Any Good Answer?" (which questioned whether servicemen should receive pensions for non-service connected disabilities), let me briefly give you my opinion on the subject.

First, let me state that I am a World War I veteran and a charter member in my home town of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, The Cooties, and World War I Veterans Organization.

The bill to which you refer was discussed in my World War I veterans meeting by the membership and state officers and all present were against its passage by Congress. Why were we against this bill? Because it will decrease the amount of pension World War I veterans will receive at the age of 65. It being based on your income from all sources, if you are a single person drawing full Social Security, your V. A. pension will be very small.

There are very few World War I veterans who do not have some kind of pension—social security, civil service, or other types of income. This, added to a veterans pension, permits us to exist on the bare necessities of life and maybe enjoy a few of the things we like. Our desires are not what they were in our younger days—so why deprive a man who has served his country to the best of his ability of the meager amount this new bill provides?

The serviceman with a service connected disability receives a pension sufficient to live on and some, according to size of family, receive as much as $400 per month, tax free, (this applies only to veterans after World War I), as well as dividends on insurance. So why should you deprive a man of 65 who did as told in time of war and received an honorable discharge of the meager pension of $78.75 or less? The only increase in pension rate is to the man with less than $600 per year income; it will be less in most cases—and always remember groceries cost the same to all of us. This small pension will keep the welfare rolls down—and who wants to see a veteran on welfare rolls?

 A visiting veteran.
