

EXAMINED BY GROUP —

Burt Crawford Ordained By Windy Gap Church

The Rev. Burt Crawford, pastor of the Windy Gap Baptist Church, was ordained to the gospel ministry by the Windy Gap church Sunday afternoon.

A presbytery, made up of nine Macon Baptist pastors and two deacons, examined Mr. Crawford as to his soundness in the faith and his call to the ministry. The presbytery unanimously recommended the young man for ordination.

Upon acceptance of the recommendation by the church, the service of ordination followed. The prayer of dedication was led by the Rev. N. E. Holden, retired Baptist minister, followed by the laying on of hands. The charge to the young minister was given by the Rev. John Willis, pastor of the Mount Hope Baptist Church; the charge to the church was given by the Rev. Jud Duvall, pastor of the Oak Grove Baptist Church; and the presentation of the Bible was made by the Rev. Thad Dowdle, pastor of the Ridgecrest Baptist Church.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Crawford, of Franklin, Route 1, Mr. Crawford is a graduate of Franklin High School and is a student at Fruitland Baptist Bible Institute. Prior to accepting the Windy Gap Church, he had been pastor of the East Franklin Mission, which is sponsored by the First Baptist Church.

New Folder Available On Corn Hybrids

A new, easy to read, folder on corn hybrids for 1960 is now available for North Carolina farmers. Copies may be obtained from the county agricultural agent or by writing to the Department of Agricultural Information, N. C. State College, Raleigh, N. C.

Information in the folder is based on extensive corn variety tests conducted by State College each year. The information was collected for the folder by A. D. Stuart, agronomy specialist for the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service.

State College does not recommend that North Carolina farmers plant a particular variety of hybrid corn. The college does provide information, however, to help farmers decide which variety of corn is best for their farm.

All information in the current folder is based on two years of tests. The state was broken down into five areas for test purposes: northern mountain, southern mountain, piedmont southern coastal plain, and northern coastal plain.

The folder contains a map which enables a farmer to see at a glance which area he falls into. Separate tests were conducted for white and yellow varieties. And in the northern coastal plain area, the hybrids were also broken down into short and full season varieties.

Each variety listed in the folder is evaluated on the basis of yield per acre, moisture percentage, lodged percentage, ear height, ears per 100 stalks, exposed ear tips, and quality.

An estimated 435,000 people left North Carolina farms between 1950 and 1960.
