Your Social Security

A frequent inquiry made in this column is one concerning persons working on jobs not covered by Social Security. These persons are working for non-profit organizations and wish to avail themselves of the protection of the Social Security Law for themselves and families.

A list containing the signatures, addresses, and Social Security numbers of the employees electing to be covered by Social Security must accompany the certificate. The organization determines when Social Security coverage will begin. There are several alternatives — coverage may begin with the first day of the quarter in which the list is filed, or on the first day of the quarter immediately after the list is filed, or coverage may be retroactive for four quarters. Whichever quarter is chosen, the organization and its employees are subject to Social Security taxes from that point.

Once the organization has elected coverage, it must remain in effect for at least 10 years. Thus, the employees are certain of obtaining 40 quarters of coverage, a fully insured status under Social Security.

More detailed information on this provision of the Social Security Act may be had by writing to George F. Leinwall, Social Security Administration, 40 North French Broad, Asheville, N. C.

have his coffee. He was busy Monday afternoon, too busy to go out for a cup. So, he called one of his drinking spots and, bless Pat, if a waitress didn't deliver a steaming cup to him at his paint shop on US 64. Furthermore, she didn't even ask him where the key was hidden.

WONT YOU please get your American Cancer Society contributions turned in? Mrs. Lester Conley, chapter president, is in a horrible fizz to get the drive "over and done with".

"WATCH this space" say catchy little signs being worn by members of the Franklin Junior Woman's Club. Wouldn't want to let the cat out of the bag, but it's a sure bet they're publicizing their coming "Red Stocking Review".
